COLD STORAGE PROJECT WINS SUPPORT HERE

Mayor Pendray and Head of Montreal Syndicate Explain Reasons For Confidence

Retail Merchants Section of Commerce Chamber Give Hearty Vote

J. W. SPENCER SUPPORTS COLD STORAGE PROJECT

In a wire to the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, read at the meeting this morning, J. W. Spencer endorsed the cold storage proposals in the following terms: "Would support cold storage by-law. Think it is a reasonable business venture if properly managed."

Unanimous approval of the terms of the agreement proposed between the City of Victoria and a Montreal syndicate headed by H. G. Brown for the erection and operation at Ogden Point of a Terminal (cold storage) warehouse was given by the Retail Merchants section of the Chamber of Commerce at a well attended meeting held in the Arcade Block this morning.

In a clear cut summary of the project Mayor J. C. Pendray, for the city, showed the foundation laid to the present negotiations. Roger D. Pinneo had singled the cold storage project out of all his investigations for extended report and had classed it as the one best suited to the needs of Victoria and the most likely to bring success in its wake. Acting on this the Mayor had gone East accompanied by B. C. Nicholas and Roger D. Pinneo, where the proposals were laid before financial interests. Of three groups interested in the plans, the proposals of H. G. Brown and associates had been the most acceptable to the city, reported the Mayor.

EXPERT'S OPINION

Associated with Mr. Brown, said the Mayor, was a man of great experience who was nationally known as the head of one of the largest cold storage plants in the world. This man had examined the field in Victoria at first hand, and had passed in its favor, and declared himself anxious to associate in the venture at this point. The delegation had returned to Victoria, where the preliminary agreement was drawn up, the industrial committee taking the lead and studying the project from every angle. Under this agreement, which was acceptable to Mr. Brown's backers, the city proposed to guarantee up to seven per cent. per annum for ten years on $500,000 of the investment, or on $550,000 if a site had to be purchased with the additional sum. The company would provide $200,000 in working capital, and any revenue made in the two-year period would reduce the city's liability to that extent.

Even if the whole scheme were a failure and that the city was called on to pay the whole of its liability this would amount to $1.80 on the normal tax bill of $75, or $18 for the whole period if no revenue was made by the operating company. The company would pay taxes, water and payroll, and after ten years would contribute heavily to the city in taxes.

On the other hand, continued the Mayor, there was every reason for the belief that the venture would be successful from the first, filling a real want and depending on the produce of

Retail Merchants Hear Details of British Film Proposals

Alderman H. C. Holmes and Claude Flemming Make By-law Terms Clear

Confidence that he would have little little difficulty in securing the backing of London motion picture financiers to the extent of the $400,000 necessary for him to exercise the terms of his agreement with the city, now pending ratification by vote of the people, was expressed by Claude Flemming to a meeting of the Retail Merchants Section of the Chamber of Commerce this morning. The city's guarantee would be $200,000 if the larger sum was previously raised.

Details of the plan were explained to the meeting by Alderman H. C. Holmes, chairman of the industrial committee of the City Council, and by the British actor manager in person. At the close of an extended explanation the meeting endorsed the by-law by unanimous vote.

CITY PROTECTED

Alderman Holmes stated the city was as on a side street of the world and was forced to make unusual efforts to promote its own welfare. In the tentative agreement with the picture promoter the city assured itself at every turn. The company had first to raise $400,000 from trained and expert British motion picture circles, before the city's $200,000 would apply. Not a dollar could be spent for the erection of plant or the making of pictures until the cost had been underwritten by releases on contract for the sale of the pictures when made. The company would provide sinking funds under city supervision, and would be obliged to set side twenty per cent of its profits additional to retire the city loan at the the earliest date. Padding of costs would be precluded by careful wording of the agreement city, supervision of all expenses, and city control by trusteeship of the assets of the company in respect to the city's loan. Films, "Made in Victoria" would be the greatest advertisement that the city could have, and could not be made until first sold to British distributors, he stated.

RISK NOT GREAT

If, concluded Alderman Holmes, the city's motion picture adventure were an entire loss, the cost would be thirty-five cents per annum per capita for the term of agreement, not an ardous burden for risk involved in such a watertight agreement.

Meeting a point raised in a wire from J. W. Spencer, who expressed the view that a very large capitalization would be required for the motion picture industry, together with a guarantee of the big producing companies, Claude Flemming set out his plans in some detail.

Mr. Flemming explained the operation of the quota law, block booking and the effect of monopolization by producing companies, which had led to the British legislation.

Victoria, he said, was the logical site of the industry catering to the British market, for it was closest to the largest centre of the ram material, namely, British actors at Hollywood, and ideal for climatic and scenaric arrangements. The conditions of the agreement were severe on the company, but he believed he would have little difficulty in getting the backing he needed in London on these terms, and by people who were experts in the business. Advance booking and the underwriting of costs was a guarantee to the city of the use of the pictures made on that basis.

The British quota law had aimed at the influx of indirect and unconscious propaganda, and films produced under the law would not only have to meet a high standard, but would have a ready sale when they did so. This was a stable condition, not subject to change, and could be counted on to supply the chief advantage of manufacture here, stated Mr. Flemming. Hearty support for the proposals followed the explanation.

NEW BRITISH MOVE FOR AGREEMENT AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

Ten 10,000-Ton Cruisers Each For Britain and U.S. Proposed at Geneva

400,000 Tons Each as Cruiser Total; Plenary Session of Conference Postponed

Geneva, July 11.—What was regarded as a significant change in the British attitude toward the cruiser problem was evident this afternoon when it was announced in authoritative British circles that if Great Britain and the United States could agree at the Three-power Conference here, to limit the number of 10,000-ton cruisers to about ten, Great Britain would be prepared to accept the United States maximum tonnage figure of 400,000.

The idea back of the plan was that if only a small proportion of the tonnage were expected upon the large cruisers, Great Britain would have enough tonnage left to maintain the number of small cruisers which she regards as necessary for the needs of the Empire.

THREE AVIATORS KILLED BY FALL

Men Fell From Machine When 1,000 Feet up Near Fairford, Man.

Winnipeg, July 11—Three members of a Manitoba aerial photographic survey party were killed near Fairford, Man., late this afternoon when, in some unexplainable manner, they fell from their machine a distance of about 1,000 feet.

Those who lost their lives were Flight Officer W. C. Weaver of Melfort, Sask., pilot in charge; A. T. Herdle, photographic mechanic, of Loore, Man., and F. H. Wrong, surveyor of the topographical branch, Ottawa.

EYEWITNESSES' STORY

According to eyewitnesses of the accident, the plane was observed to enter a cloudbank. Lost to view for several minutes, the plane was later seen following an erratic course through the fleeting clouds. The watchers were greatly startled to see three men come hurtling through the air and the machine follow in a nose dive to earth.

The body of Weaver was recovered in a terribly mangled condition near the shore of Lake Manitoba at Millbro.

The total yield of oats, according to a crop report issued this afternoon by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is estimated at 389,758,000 bushels, of which 226,297,000 bushels is forecast as the yield from the three prairie provinces and the remainder from the other provinces of Canada.

O'HIGGINS IS MURDERED BY DUBLIN GANG

Vice-President of Executive Council of Irish Free State Assassinated

Arrests Reported Made, But Men Who Fired Shots Believed Still at Large

Dublin, July 11—Kevin O'Higgins, Vice-president of the Council of Ministers of the Irish Free State, Minister of Justice and Minister of Foreign Affairs, was shot and killed by a small body of men shortly before noon yesterday near his home in Black Rock, five miles southeast of Dublin. To-day several arrests were reported to have been made but no indication has been given that the actual persons implicated in the crime have been found.

An account states a stolen automobile, which is supposed to have been used by the asasins, was found abandoned at Milltown.

O'Higgins, walking in the street, was shot half a dozen times from an automobile in which were three men. He was carried to his home, where he died. The assassins escaped by driving rapidly away.

FIVE IN GANG

An official account of the assisination says five men were engaged in it, two of whom acted as scouts. All are believed to have been between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five.

The account says one of the men signalled to the others when he saw Mr. O'Higgins approaching and that thereupon the three men opened fire.

Descriptions of the men, which the police believe accurate, have been obtained.

A verdict of wilful murder by three persons unknown was returned at the inquest on the body of Kevin O'Higgins to-day.

The body of O'Higgins lay in state to-day in the Mansion House. After a mass in St. Andrew's Church Wednesday, there will be a public funeral. Burial will be made in the Grasevin cemetery, where many leading figures in Irish history are buried, among them Parnell and Daniel O'Connell.

There were signs of mourning everywhere to-day "for the strong man of the Free State."

SHOT NEAR HOME

The attack which caused the death of O'Higgins was made near the O'Higgins residence at Black Rock, five miles southeast of Dublin.

URGE CRUISE OF HUMPBACK TIMBER

Mayor and Council Have Busy Week Explaining By-law Projects

A cruise of the merchantable timber in the Humpback watershed of the city waterworks property is suggested by the water committee in a report that will go to the City Council tonight.

In his monthy report from June, Dr. Arthur G. Price gives city milk dealers a clean bill, with tests made in each case, proving the wholesomeness of the city's milk supply. Continuing the low loss record of infant births, the city health officer reports the death of two infants born incapable of sustaining life, and no losses among viable births.

The grandstand at the Willows Park, said to have been weakened with age, has been prepaired by the city at a cost of $300, at the suggestion of the City School Board. The work was done before the school pageant at the Willows, and as a precautionary measure to handle the crowrs in safety on that day.

Work in connection with the polling on two city by-laws calling for money guarantees is increasing this week, and will reach a climax on Thursday when the polls open. Mayor Pendray spoke to-day to the retail section of the Chamber of Commons. To-night he will speak to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and to-morrow at 8 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms he will address a massed public gathering on both questions.

Other members of the council, notably Alderman H. C. Holmes, and other members of the industrial committee, have also had their hands full in explaining the details of the by-laws and the proposed agreements to go before the people on Thursday. All members of the council will attend the public rally to-morrow, when questions on cold storage and motion picture projects will be answered.

RETURNS FROM TOUR

DR. JAMES ENDICOTT

Moderator of United Church of Canada, who reached Victoria Sunday on board R.M.S. Empress of Russia from investigation of foreign mission fields.

SEES PROMISE OF PROGRESS IN FAR EAST

Dr. James Endicott, Moderator of United Church, Hopeful of Outcome in China

Bringing with him vivid impressions from a personal study of North and South China, while on an extended tour of foreign missions, Dr. James Endicott, Toronto, moderator of the United Church of Canada, returned yesterday on board the R.M.S. Empress of Rusisa.

Leaving Toronto in November last year Dr. Endicott traveled through India, Korea, China, Japan and the Strait Settlements, and found tangible developments to support his belief that good will result from the present turmoil in the Far East.

"There lies in the unrest in China at this date something that is inevitable, and at the same time a movement that promises a far better China," Dr. Endicott told The Times on board the liner.

"I have talked with Chinese of all types on this trip, and every one of them believes that China to-day is better than it has been for the last twenty-five years. Let us head it for a better day.

"They are widening the streets, tearing down old houses and building new ones. On every hand may be seen signs of a reawakening of endeavor, and though the experience of the conflict may not be happy, I believe that a great good will result. It is significant that for the first time in the history of foreign settlement in China the native Christians were not molested in the fighting," continued the moderator.

CHURCH MAKES HEADWAY

"Over thirty years ago I went to China in the mission field. In 1875 there was an uprising, and the church lost all its property there, and buildings and hospitals destroyed by mobs, and saw little left of its endeavor. In 1900 the Boxer uprising repeated that experience, and again in 1911 and 1912

Champertous Acts In B.C. Are Subject of Court Ruling

Vancouver, July 11—With Mr. Justice Martin withholding an opinion until the crown's representative has complied with the direction of the court, two Court of Appeal judges, Chief Justice Macdonald and Mr. Justice Galliher, have decided that champertous agreements between solicitors and clients are illegal in British Columbia and that Section 100 of the Legal Profession Act, which purported to legalize such transactions, is ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Justice McPhillips held the legislation was intra vires.

Reasons for judgment are pending from Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

The late Hon. Joseph Martin, when Premier for a brief interval in 1901, had the act amended so as to legalize bargains between lawyers and clients for a share of the proceeds of litigation.

Invoking the Constitutional Questions Act, Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, recently referred the validity of Section 100 of the Legal Professions Act to the Court of Appeal for determination.

NEW PROPELLER TO STOP PLANES AND LAND THEM QUICKLY

Washintgon, July 11.—A propeller reversing device which it is claimed will permit aeroplanes to be brought to a stop within twice their own length after they touch the ground has been evolved and patented by Francis Jenkins, a Washington inventor.

Announcing his invention, Jenkins said to-day it would now be possible to establish air fields within cities and on the roofs of large buildings. The aviator, he said, would be able to "bring his plane to rest on ground, deck or sea almost as instantaneously as a bird ceases flight."

MINISTERS RETURN HERE FOR MEETING THURSDAY MORNING

All Cabinet Reassembling For Conference Prior to Caucus Next Monday

Members of the Provincial Government are on their way back to the Capital now from distant parts of the Province to meet Premier Oliver here Thursday morning.

It is expected the entire Cabinet will be present when the Premier calls his colleagues together for the first full session since he went to the East some weeks ago.

HOLDS EXECUTIVE

Meanwhile the Premier held a brief executive meeting with Hon. J. D. MacLean and Hon. T. D. Pattullo Saturday and passed a number of routine orders-in-council.

Hon. W. H. Sutherland and Hon. E. D. Barrow left Prince Rupert to-day for Thursday's meeting here. It is expected Attorney-General Manson, who motored to the North a few weeks ago, will return over the Cariboo Road in time for the conference, but his trip into the wilds of Omineca has made it difficult to keep in touch with his movements. Hon. William Sloan will come down from his Summer home at Horne Lake, outside Nanaimo, to meet the Premier.

The Thursday Cabinet meeting will be followed by a caucus meeting of all Liberal members of the Legislature next Monday when plans for the party's future will be discussed.

WILD SCENES DURING ELEPHANT STAMPEDE IN ILLINOIS TOWN

Train Ploughed Into Circus Herd; One Man and Elephant Were Killed

Chicago, July 11.—A circus elephant and its trainer were killed, half a dozen persons were injured and six other elephants of the Hagenback-Wallace Circus were thrown into a wild stampede early yesterday when a heavily-loaded Chicago, Aurora & Elgin passenger train crashed into the herd of pachyderms as they were being taken from the circus grounds at Aurora.

One of the elephants was knocked to the ground, crushing its rider, Andra Stickwell, Springfield, Ills., under it, as the train ploughed through the jungle beasts with its load of homeward bound circus-goers. Three of the elephants, red lanterns waving from their tails, threw their riders to the ground and stampeded through streets of Aurora with scores or circus employees in wild pursuit, while automobiles and other street traffic hurried for cover. They were recaptured after a two-hour chase.

"CHEERFUL" GARDNER HURT

"Cheerful" Gardner, superintendent of elephants for the circus, was thrown to the ground and suffered concussion of the brain when the train struck the beasts' and his wife, riding on one of them, was thrown from her perch by the terror-tricken animal.

TWO DEATHS IN JULY STORMS IN PLAINS REGION

Losses of Growing Grain Suffered by Farmers in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan Estimated at Millions of Dollars on Incomplete Reports Following Series of Violent Winds Accompanied in Some Districts by Hailstones of Great Size

Calgary, July 11.—Two deaths, field grain losses which may total millions of dollars and heavy losses in wrecked and damaged buildings, including thousands of panes of window glass, are the results of July windstorms of tornado force, accompanied here and there by a fall of hail, in which the stones were of great size, which have swept areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

In the Wetaskiwin district of Alberta a granary in which three Polish immigrants were sleeping, was lifted and carried 200 yards by the wind. Two of the men died of their injuries.

Scattered reports of losses of growing grain caused by the hail are coming in, but it is too early yet to total the figures.

The series of storms strated last Thursday evening.

HEAVY LOSSES

Regina, July 11—Meagre reports indicate the damage done by the prairie hail storm last Saturday afternoon will run into millions of dollars. Commencing at a point north of Eyebrow Lake, the path of the storm lay along the lake to Buffalo Lake, across to Bethune, Bisley, west of Lumsden, then at Franks Lake, McLean, Qu'Appelle, Indian Head, between the Qu'Appelle Valley and the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway to Grenfell, thence south along the Pipestone Creek. From there it struck north through the Percival District and reached the Qu'Appelle Valley. North of Moosomin it veered to the southeast and hit every district between the valley and the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Manitoba boundary.

LARGE AREA AFFECTED

No reports of losses have been made to hail insurance companies, but estimates made in the various districts show more than half a million acres of grain and garden stuff were affected, in many cases the loss being 100 per cent.

Hailstones ranged from the size of beans to crow's eggs, and in every section along its path the storm caused destruction of window panes. Southwest of Lumsden and on the Pipestone Creek were the places where the storm did most damage.

Farmers of the Bethune district, the Bisley district and adjacent territory reported to hail insurance agents at Lumsden that thousands of acres of grain had been ruined, pounded into

PAINT REMOVER IS BARRED MARKET

B.C. Fire Marshal Gives Order As Result of Vancouver Disaster Inquiry

Vancouver, July 11.—After hearing expert testimony this morning from Robert C. Farrell, analyst, on the nature of the paint remover used in the Royal Alexandra Apartment House here in the suite where the disastrous fire started last Friday, J. A. Thomas, provincial fire marshal, gave orders to Capt. J. H. de Graves, local assistant fire marshal, to notify the manufacturers of the material, Messrs. Hunter and Henderson, to withdraw it from sale. All other paint establishments in the city will also be notified that the material must be withdraw from the market.

WITNESSES HEARD

The testimany was taken at the inquiry which Mr. Thomas has instituted into the cause of the fire, which caused eight deaths. G. E. Lightheart, owner of the apartment; David Henderson, the painter charged with manslaughter by the city police in connection with the fire; Robert Charles Farrell, analyst, and Teddy Luckhart, son of Mrs. Grace Luckhart, who lost two children in the blaze, were heard. At noon Mr. Thomas adjourned the inquiry for one week.

ANALYST'S TESTIMONY

Robert C. Farrell, who analyzed paint remover of the same manufacture Henderson had been using in the suite when the fire started, said it was composed of fifty-three per cent benzol, forty-two per cent crude acetone (ketones, etc.) and five per cent paraffin wax. The tests showed the flash point to be much below no degrees Fahrenheit, the witness said. He explained that meant the material was inflammable at a temperature considerably below zero. He pointed out that the vapors arising from the substance were exceedingly inflammable and could "creep" many feet, thereby causing danger of ignition from a considerable distance. He gave it as his opinion that it was not always necessary for a naked flame to cause such ignition.

After many months of illness, Francis Lloyd Mutrie, well known in the business world here and in the East, of the firm of Murtie & Son, died at St. Joseph's Hospital early yesterday morning. Born in Brandon, Manitoba, where he was educated and first entered the business which he followed when he came here, the late Mr. Mutrie had achieved a considerable success before his untimely death. He was known to many as an able and consistent worker in Rotary and other fields of service and was for some years a member of that club.

In 1911 Mr. Mutrie came to Victoria to go into a business partnership with his father, the late Martin Mutrie, who died in January, 1926.

In 1916 Lloyd Mutrie went to France with the Canadian Expeditionary Force as a gunner.

On his return to Victoria in 1918, after two years of service in the army, Mr. Mutrie married Miss Flora Patton of this city.

The marriage was in 1919. The same year he joined the Rotary Club and was actively associated with it until his illness overtook him.

He will be missed from among his old comrades of the Rotary Club where he served with the boys' work committee and did commendable work.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3 p.m. from Sands Funeral Parlors. Interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

REV. P. DEELEY DIES IN ENGLAND

Priest of St. Andrew's Cathedral Passes While on Holiday Visit to England

Many friends in Victoria will grieve to learn of the death of Rev. Father Pascal Deeley of St. Andrew's Cathedral. Rev. Father Silver, rector of the Cathedral, this morning received a cable from England telling of Father Deeley's sudden demise. Father Deeley was on a visit to England, having left Victoria early in April. He was this year celebrating the silver anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

A short time ago news was received at the cathedral telling of a slight illness which Father Deeley contracted on his journey, but it was not expected that it was serious. Father Deeley was born in England about fifty-two years ago, and had been attached to St. Andrew's for three years, during which time he endeared himself to many people by his kindly and cheery spirit. He had worked in mission fields in many parts of the world, and had traveled the missions of India.

During the Great War he served as a chaplain in France. It is only a short time ago that the congregation of the cathedral gathered in the Bishop's Palace to present Father Deeley with an address and a purse of gold, and all good wishes for a happy holiday and safe return. Father Deeley expressed himself surprised and pleased with the friendliness of the farewell, and said he would be glad to come back to his friends and parishioners. Mass will be said at St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock.

HOME IN SAANICH WRECKED BY FLAMES

Fire early this morning completely destroyed the residence of A. E. Campbell at Prospect Lake. The fire broke out at about 2.30 o'clock and burned for about an hour. Lack of water handicapped efforts to check the blaze. Mr. Campbell was in town at the time of the fire.

Keating

Keating, July 11.—About sixty members and friends of the Metchosin Institutes were the guests of the South Saanich Farmers' and Women's Institutes in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening. The entertainment opened with a concert programme, the following taking part: Pianoforte duet, Miss Nellie Styan and Mrs. F. Goodwin; solo, Miss Blanch Sherring; Highland Fling, Miss Babs Pollock, accompanied by Piper-Major Cameron on the bagpipes; solo, Miss Evelyn Nimmo; solo, Mrs. Travis; recitation, Miss Eslin; sword dance, Miss Babs Pollock; vocal solo, Mrs. Travis; comic sketch, Mr. Cyril Connerton; Dulcimeo selections, Mrs. MacIntosh. The accompaniments were Mrs. F. Goodwin and Miss Janet Sherring. A vote of thanks was expressed to those taking part in the programme by the chairman, Mr. W. D. Michell. Ray Kinloch's orchestra provided the music for dancing which was enjoyably indulged in for the remainder of the evening. A delicious supper was served by the ladies in the dining-room, the tables being daintily decorated with sweet peas. During the evening the platform was taken by Mr. Whitney-Griffiths, president, and the directors of the Metchosin Institute, who expressed their pleasure at being present, and presented Mrs. W. D. Michell, Mrs. H. Lawrie, president of the Women's Institute, and Mrs. Styan, secretary, with a dainty pot plant as a token of friendship and appreciation. Community singing was led by Mr. Hudson and the entertainment continued until the early hours.

The South Saanich Junior Institute Club will hold the monthly meeting at the home of Miss Edith Bickford, Tod Inlet Road, on Thursday evening, July 14, at 7.30 o'clock.

Industrial Value of Women Still Below Par—But Why?

The school board of a large city employed efficiency experts to figure out a way of reducing expenses in maintaining their school buildings.

The efficiency engineers went over the buildings with pad and pencil and issued their ultimatum. "Cleaning the buildings should be costing a hundred thousand dollars a year less!" said they.

The school board called the janitors up on the carpet. They did not say "Off with their heads." They said "Off with their helpers!" But they meant, to be more definite, "Off with their male helpers."

Then to soften the blow, for every one knows that the major-domo in charge of a large building cannot do all the window cleaning and ash-sifting himself, the school board said, "You may employ women, good sirs. You can get the same service with the help of charwomen; we shall raise your salaries, and we shall still save one hundred thousand dollars a year."

Now then, what is the answer? One cannot say that the women will be paid less because they render less service. The work is there to be done, must be done, and will be done, and women will do it.

It must be that most of the women who will be employed are foreigners. Perhaps and perhaps not. It may be that the men who have been dismissed are mentally more capable. But in this case it must appear to be a case of labor and not of brains.

It is the old economic question of men earning more than women for the same work. Men have families. So have women. Most of the charwomen I have employed are supporters of families—in many cases of husbands also.

To pay by piece instead of time has been talked of as a solution. Pay for value received, be it from man or woman. Yet where it has been tried it is still difficult to maintain an equal scale.

I wonder how many ages it will take to get the Chinese prejudice out of the masculine make-up, concerning the industrial value of women.

MONTREAL MARKET WAITING FOR LEAD

Montreal, July 11 (By B. C. Bond direct wire).—For the time being traders here appear more willingto follow the Wall Street lead when it reacts, rather than when it strengthens.

The fear which has existed for some time that New York is not far from a break still seems to exert an influence notwithstanding the big market's notable demonstration to the contrary. This feeling may wear off if Wall Street bulls maintain their grip on the market and give rise to more activity than might be the case if Summer dullness is permitted to settle down on the market.

In the meantime, traders seem disposed to let the market drift and it may prove an opportunity for picking up stocks which show prospects of benefiting from constructive developments later on in they ear.

WOMAN WHO LAY UNCONSCIOUS LONG PERIOD SUCCUMBS

Los Angeles, July 11.—Mrs. Mary E. Lorenz died in a hospital here to-day after being unconscious for 102 days from what her doctors described as destruction of brain and blood cells resulting from inhaling gas fumes and the introduction of carbon monoxide into the arterial system.

Doctors said there had been no hope for the recovery of Mrs. Lorenz as the only treatment which might have saved her life would have been blood infusions directly after she was taken ill. Her husband, W. C. Lorenz, was overcome by gas at the same time as his wife, but was revived.

Mrs. Lorenz's case was said to have been similar in some respect to that of Mrs. Clara Drummond, recently brought here from Fresno for treatment.

LID OFF AGAIN IN SHANGHAI AS GAIETY RETURNS

Curfew Regulations Are Withdrawn and Night Life is Resumed

Shanghai, July 16—The wild, carefree night life of Shanghai has resumed in full. Once darkened streets that echoed the measured tread of military feet are now ablaze with beckoning lights of cabarets. One hears now the blare of jazz orchestras instead of the sharp challenge of the night sentry.

For six weeks curfew regulations confined restive fun-loving Shanghai folk to the homes. The first curfew hour was 10 p.m. Later it was extended till midnight. Curfew is now a thing of the past—something most residents recall with a shudder. The lid is off, there is no limit and mushroom cafes catering to the service men have sprung into existence by the dozen.

MAINTAIN VIGIL

The sand bag barricades are still in evidence and behind some of them armed soldiers, sailors or marines maintain a day and night vigil. The barbed-wire barriers are still in place on streets fronting on Chinese territory but the war-like atmosphere is absent. Chinese by the thousands pass the barriers daily and are neither stopped or searched. Sailors have ceased to guard the foreshore of the Bund and sampans and other river craft with their strange cargoes are permitted to come and go at will. The Shanghai Volunteer Corps has been demobilized.

Outwardly all is well. Beneath the surface, however, there is dissension and unrest in the ranks of the Chinese. Business in the international settlement is practically at a standstill. Many Chinese merchants, too, in many cases are hard pressed.

HAILED WITH DELIGHT

The lifting of the curfew regulations was hailed with delight by the Chinese of the settlement. They felt that it not only meant a resumption of their interrupted business, but also a resumption of night life, which the Chinese love.

Night in Shanghai, no matter what the hour, finds Nanking Road, second most important thoroughfare in the settlement, swarming with Chinese. They mill back and forth in the vicinity of the great department stores, apparently without an objective but content so long as they can remain on the streets. They gaze in resentment at the New World Cafe Building, once the centre of Chinese night life and now a barracks for British soldiers. Before the New World Building bowed to the British military it was nightly the gathering place for the lights and shadows of the Chinese night life world. Here wealthy merchants rubbed shoulders with gentlemen gangsters and gunmen, sing-song girls, clerks and servants.

With the advent of early Summer foreign girls here have donned the Summer attire for which Shanghai is famous and the colors for which someone must have raged the solar spectrum. Nowhere in the world can such a riot of colorful attire be seen. In the matter of short skirts the girl of the Occident has nothing on the girl of the Orient, that is, the foreign girl. They wear them just as short here, perhaps shorter.

The service men of several nations have blossomed forth in their snappy Summer uniforms and present a pleasing sight as they swagger through the streets. Young, clean-cut fellows chiefly. A few weeks ago a sailor, John Musgrove, a chap who dares to be different, grew a "Valentino" beard. This has since been copied by othe sailors and has even spread to the British Navy.

DANCING GIRLS SAD

A certain cafe, once the mecca of all service men, is now devoid of sailors, and the Russian dancing girls are sad. The cafe is situated in the French concession and was invaded one night by a large group of French marines.

$25,000 FACTORY FIRE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, July 11. — Sweeping through the two-story plant of the British Columbia Roofing & Ceiling Company, at 523 Seventh Avenue West, here, fire caused damage estimated to exceed $25,000 early Sunday morning.

The first alarm was turned in at 1.05 and before the arrival of the fire brigade the blaze had gained a stubborn hold. Fed by tinder-dry wood stored in the plant, the flames blazed furiously and soon ate their way through the roof, rising many feet in the air.

A second alarm was sounded and all men and equipment were rushed to the scene. Working strenuously under the direction of District Chief Loftus, the firemen sought to cope with the intensely hot fire.

Work was carried on with difficulty, and the flames swept through both sections of the plant, joined by a lean-to affair.

It was after 4 o'clock before the fire was put under control.

Large crowds were attracted by the brilliant glare caused by the fire and a squad of police under Sergts. Yorke and Annesly had difficulty keeping the curiosity seekers in check.

The plant was used for the manufacture of roofing and ceiling material and boxes. Valuable machinery in the plant was practically destroyed.

H. Frith Smith, 2881 Vanness Avenue, is owner of the plant.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SOUTH B.C. HIGHWAY

Princeton Board of Trade Takes Newspapermen Over Trail to Hope

Vancouver, July 11.—Princeton people, who a few years ago waged a vigorous publicity campaign urging adoption of the Hope-Princeton instead of the Fraser Canyon route for the Transprovincial Highway, are still determined to have a road across the southern part of the Province. To show the value of the proposed road even under present conditions with the Fraser Canyon Highway an established utility, the Princeton Board of Trade during the past week-end brought a party of newspapermen over the historic Dewdney Trail.

Starting early Saturday morning from Princeton, the party covered the sixty-five mile trail to Hope by 4.30 p.m. Sunday. The journey was made on horseback with the celebrated "Podunk" Davis as guide.

A point stressed by the Princeton citizens was that many of the most important centres of population in the interior of the Province are situated close to the international border. To reach any of these places, Princeton, Penticton, Nelson and other cities, from Vancouver by the existing Transprovincial Highway it is necessary to travel from 180 to 200 miles farther than would be the case if one or other of the three proposed routes from Hope to Princeton were constructed.

ST. PAUL-TO-TOKIO FLIGHT POSTPONED

Aeroplane Trip by Way of Seattle Arranged For Next Spring

St. Paul, July 11.—The proposed St. Paul-Seattle-Tokio aeroplane flight scheduled for around September 1 has been postponed until Spring.

This announcement was made today by Louis W. Hill of St. Paul, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern Railway, who was revealed as one of the chief backers of the event. The postponement was made necessary because a suitable plane could not be constructed in less than ninety days. By the end of that time weather conditions on the route would make flying inadvisable, Mr. Hill was informed.

Charles "Speed" Holman of St. Paul, air mail pilot, has been selected as pilot for the flight, which will be made in two jumps—St. Paul to Seattle, 1,300 miles, and Seattle to Tokio, 4,500 miles. William S. Schley, St. Paul newspaperman, has been picked as navigator.

Seattle, July 11.—J. H. Stevens of Vancouver, B.C., and his wife were seriously injured yesterday in a spectacular collision between their automobile and an outbound Capitol Hill street car here.

Stevens was turning into Volunteer Park when the street car struck the machine broadside, pushing it more than fifty feet before it came to a stop. The couple were rushed to a hospital, where an examination indicated Mrs. Stevens had suffered concussion of the brain and several bone fractures. The husband sustained a deep gash in one arm and was severely bruised.

FIVE WERE KILLED IN BAGDAD CLASH

Crowd of Mohammedans and Soldiers Fought During Religious Ceremony

Bagdad, Turkey, July 11.—Two soldiers and three civilians were killed and a number on both sides were wounded yesterday in a clash between Mohammedans and a detachment of the Irak army. A 100,000 Mohammedans had gathered to take part in the pious lamentations at the famous Shiahs Mosque of Kadhimein, a few miles outside of Bagdad. The occasion was the annual passion play commemorating the death 1,200 years ago of Hossain, who is venerated as a martyr.

The origin of the trouble is obscure, but the crowd angered by some real or imaginary affront, attacked the soldiers, who were unarmed.

Delay in Winnipeg Trial is Requested

Winnipeg, July 11.—A motion for postponement of the trial of Earle Nelson, charged with having murdered a Winnipeg woman and girl, will be made here to-morrow, before Mr. Justice Macdonald. Papers to this effect were served on the clerk of the assizes Saturday by James H. Stitt, chief defence counsel.

The application sets out that an adjournment is necessary on two grounds: First, in order that the accused may be allowed to make full answer to the charges against him, and the time between now and July 26, is not sufficient, and second, that public opinion is so inflamed against the prisoner by reason of the extraordinary publicity given the alleged crimes that it is impossible to obtain an impartial jury.

ELECTIONS ACT CHANGES

Calgary, July 11.—Further action on the part of the Parliament of Canada with respect to the Athabasca election charges of 1925 was demanded in a resolution passed at the annual meeting of United Farmer members, members of the central board of the United Farmers of Alberta, and representatives of the constituency associations here Saturday. The parliamentary representatives were requested to bring the matter before Parliament again with a view to securing amendments to the Elections Act designed to frustrate dishonest tampering with the franchise.

THE PACIFIC SEEKS A NEW WAY

IT IS AN AMBITIOUS PROGRAMME that is being tackled this week in Honolulu, where the second conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations is opening, with delegates from China, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Great Britain and the United States. The delegations include some of the most eminent men in education, finance, economics, political science and public affairs from each of these countries.

The object of this, as of the former conference, is to remove by frank exposition and discussion, international and racial misunderstandings and to that extent eliminate possible causes of friction between nations and groups on the Pacific fringe. To permit the most free and frank discussion in the council sessions and eliminate possibility of misinterpretation of reported speeches, newspaper correspondents will not be among those present.

An idea of the scope of the conference may be obtained by listing some of the subjects to be discussed, thus:

What is international justice in immigration legislation? That is, do peoples have a natural right to reproduce in excess of the economic resources and demand the lands of others; do peoples have the natural right to hold lands which they are not using and cannot use to their maximum productivity?

Is migration the answer to population pressure?

Is the mingling of such diverse races as Oriental and Anglo-Saxon really desirable?

How shall we strike a balance between patriotism and internationalism in the teaching of children?

It is explained that "the representative of each country is expected to bring out those points on which his countrymen feel that they have been mistreated and those in reference to which they think they are misunderstood and perhaps censured and the outstanding internal and external problems of each."

If satisfactory answers could be evolved for such fundamental questions as the foregoing, it might be said that what have been the problems of international statesmen down through the ages would be solved.

The immediately important and most hopeful feature, however, is that the countries on the Pacific circle, through these conferences, are attempting to deal with their international difficulties in a sensible and enlightened way and to head off the policy of drift, and unrestrained racial rivalries, which, operating on the other side of the Atlantic down through the centuries, have brought so much woe and national bitterness to Europe.

THE LAST OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

THIS TIME, APPARENTLY, THERE IS to be no reprieve for Sherlock Holmes. He has been threatened many times, the public has pleaded for him successfully, but the abhorred shears have come together at last.

"I fear," writes Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, in his preface to "The Case-Book of Sherlock Holmes," that Mr. Sherlock Holmes may become like one of those popular tenors who, having outlived their time, are still tempted to make repeated farewell bows to their indulgent public. This must cease and he must go the way of all flesh, material or imaginary."

The creator of Sherlock Holmes allows a tear to fall at the graveside, but he is certainly not of Meredith's mind, for Meredith complained that the public interfered between him and the lethal chamber.

"I could have killed her merrily," he wrote of "Diana of the Crossways," "with my compliments to the public, and that was my intention."

Even so, it goes hard with a man to be cut off in the flower of his age, and in these last twelve adventures there are no signs of flagging vigor or failure in ingenuity. It is impossible to agree with Mr. Edgar Wallace who, when it was suggested to him that he himself might well have achieved a high place in the criminal hierarchy, replied that he might have thought about it had the Scotland Yard officials of to-day been of the type of Sherlock Holmes. Perhaps there is a touch of professional jealousy about this.

One of the most interesting passages in the last volume gives Holmes's own verdict on his assistant:

"Speaking of my old friend and biographer," he says, "I would take this opportunity to remark that if I burden myself with a companion in my various little inquiries it is not done out of sentiment or caprice, but it is that Watson has some remarkable characteristics of his own, to which in his modesty he has given small attention amid his exaggerated estimates of my own performances. A confederate who sees your conclusions and course of action is always dangerous, but one to whom each development comes as a perpetual surprise and to whom the future is always a closed book, is indeed an ideal helpmate."

An invaluable testimonial.

BETTER CUSTOMERS

LATEST BANKING REPORTS FROM EUROPE indicate a change in the state of affairs that makes good news for Canada.

Germany, whose economic structure crumbled in 1923, is regaining prestige with a new currency backed by gold, with a gold reserve in the national bank which has increased from $110,000,000 in 1924 to $460,000,000 to-day, with a public revenue that covers home, foreign and reparations payments, and with an export trade, which in the case of steel, exceeds the exports of any other producing nation.

France presents an extraordinary transformation from a year ago when the franc was wobbly and capital was fleeing to other lands. The French Treasury recently has been paying off obligations to England without having to buy exchange on London, and the Bank of France, without borrowing, has been able to establish a gold reserve of $150,000,000 in New York. In May the French Government laid down in London $165,000,000 cash to pay off a war obligation.

While these facts are coming out from across the Atlantic, our crop reports are coming in weekly with the news that the growing grain is pushing ahead at a wonderful rate and that Canada will have a few hundred million bushels for the export market. Europe needs wheat this year as her supplies are low and her crops none too good. Her credit, fortunately for the Canadian farmer and through him for everybody else in this country, is better than it has been at any time since the war.

ANNEXATION R.I.P.

ESTABLISHMENT BY CANADA OF HER own legation at Washington, under Mr. Vincent Massey as first Canadian Minister to the United States, is interpreted by the New York Herald-Tribune as the final death-blow to whatever lingers of annexation sentiment on either side of the line.

"From the political standpoint, Mr. Massey symbolizes the final and utter disappearance of a very old dream" the New York newspaper says. "That is the dream of annexing Canada to the United States. The coming of Mr. Massey marks officially the permanent and complete extinction of that now almost forgotten hope."

The psychological reason for this is clear enough. Now the fact which for decades has been becoming more and more obvious is evident to all the world. Canada is a power on her own account, the Herald-Tribune asserts. Any union with the United States now would be a surrendering not merely of the British connection, but of her own new Canadian nationhood.

MAKING MILLIONAIRES

A WRITER IN THE SATURDAY EVENING Post declares that "in the next quarter of a century, Canada will produce more metal millionaires than the United States has done in all her history."

Examination of the profit statements of some of the chief mining and smelting organizations of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec, and the market appreciation of their securities during the last couple of years, would suggest that the process of creating new millionaires is already well under way.

Do You Mean What You Say?

"DO ANOTHER LINDBERGH"

The newest phrase which the present generation has contributed to the language is "Do Another Lindbergh." Its meaning is clearly to repeat the trail blazer's success, which is no easy order. A hundred years hence when the beginnings of transoceanic aviation have been buried between the covers of history books this phrase may be on the lips of many people to whom Lindbergh is but a word synonymous with "impossible feat," "skilled or courageous act."

Canadian Questions and Answers

RUPERT'S LAND

Q.—Where, and what, was Rupert's Land?

A.—Rupert's Land was the name of that part of the Canadian Northwest, part of what is now known as Manitoba. In 1869 Rupert's Land, and the northwestern territory, were purchased from the Hudson's Bay Company, that held valuable rights under its charter, for $300,000. The rich natural resources of this area is being constantly revealed, especially in mineral deposits and the increased grain acreage, as well as pulp and paper resources.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

Sixty Years of Progress

STATUS OF WOMEN IN CANADA

For the first fifty years of Confederation the legal status of Canadian women remained practically unchanged, but with the World War and the nation-wide public efforts of those years, the relationship of the women of the Dominion to public affairs took a radical change. And it is during these nine post-war years that women have assumed the full responsibilities of citizenship.

It was in 1920 that the Parliament of Canada by statute gave the women of the country the right to vote and in the following year Miss Agnes MacPhail was returned to Parliament as the first woman to sit in the House of Commons. Miss MacPhail has retained her seat during two subsequent general elections. The provinces were quick to follow suit, and by 1923 all the provinces of Canada, except Quebec, had admitted the right of women to vote in provincial elections. In eastern Canada no women were successful as candidates, but in the west several became members of provincial legislatures, and some have risen to cabinet rank in the provincial political arenas. Most of these women who stepped suddenly into public life had distinguished themselves either in patriotic work during the war or in some form of social or community service.

While a comparatively few have, during the years since the war, achieved prominence in federal and provincial politics a very great number are serving actively in municipal governments, urban and rural. It has been a rapid change, but to-day it is an unusual Board of Education of a Canadian city that has not at least one woman trustee. Many women are serving as aldermen in cities and many on the county councils of rural districts. This phase of women's participation in public matters has also been stimulated by numerous provincial acts which have given women the right to equal citizenship with men in municipal affairs. Most of the provinces made this change when the provincial franchise was extended.

Among the women who have served their provinces in the legislatures is Mrs. Ralph Smith of Vancouver, whose husband was a member of the Federal House and later Provincial Treasurer. Upon his death Mrs. Smith contested his seat and won. She has survived three elections and was the first woman to sit as a member of British government.

Mrs. Edith Rogers of Winnipeg, after some years of social and patriotic work, was elected to the Manitoba legislature in 1920 and has been a member of that body ever since. She is the daughter of a Hudson Bay Company official and a native of her province.

In Alberta several women have served in the Legislature. Mrs. Nellie McClung was elected to the Provincial House after active W.C.T.U. and press work. She is a novelist and has been in politics since 1921. Mrs. Mary Irene Parlby represents Lacombe district in the Legislature. Her home is Dartmoor Ranch, Alix, Alberta, and she is a member of a family of British parliamentarians and naval officers. She, too, has been active in public life since 1921. Miss Roberta MacAdams (since married) sat in the Alberta House for some time, and Mrs. Louise McKinney was the first woman in Canada to be elected at the polls. She, too, sat for some time in the Legislature.

Many women in the past few years have been unsuccessful candidates in elections, and many more have been active in political organizations. This general movement has been supplemented to some extent by the employment of women in the electoral machinery. Recently women have been employed as returning officers and polling clerks.

FILMS, FACTS AND FICTION

To the Editor:—If a film industry should be established here, which seems a possibility, one hopes that British historical events, and costumes, will be handled more accurately than by the Hollywood studios. A picture shown here recently dealt with the entry of the United States into the late war, spies, embarkation of American troops and their arrival in France. Then followed what purported to be the Battle of Jutland, in which United States warships, and a United States hero, were the most prominent features, conveying an impression that the Battle of Jutland was won largely by the United States navy. The Battle of Jutland was fought in May, 1916, and the United States did not declare war till April, 1917. These dates are of no consequence, however, to the present movie magnates, so long as some appeal, no matter how absurd or in what bad taste, can be "put over" to swell the box office returns. One hopes accordingly that if a local studio is established it will give a proper representation of our own national and social doings, and not perpetrate horrible historical inexactitudes such as that mentioned.

B.P.S.

THE BY-LAWS

To the Editor:—Surely the mayor and council would not put a by-law to the voters if it could not become law if passed on July 14.

Let me plead with the voters of Victoria to pass it anyway. I feel we need a real up-to-date cold storage to encourage fruit growing, dairying, and our fish products, and the logical place is at a shipping point, namely, the Outer Wharf.

Also the motion picture industry, no place in the whole world could offer better facilities.

Some people always look and write on the dark side of things. Just think for a moment what Hollywood has meant to California, then think what Victoria can do for Vancouver Island as a motion picture centre. Think of the millions who will know Victoria and Vancouver Island through the pictures alone!

Imagine the value from an advertising point of view! Victoria is spending now $25,000 a year advertising, so if we should lose $30,000 a year for ten years, what of it? The advertising alone will be worth half a million, showing the people all over the world what we have got here.

Think all these things over for yourselves before you vote on July 14, 1927.

J. W. ARCHER.

TWO ARRESTED IN OPIUM RAID

Discovered by police in a cabin in Theatre Alley and charged with being found in an opium smoking resort, Long and Loon, two Chinamen, were this morning arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the city police court.

Sergt. Thomas Heatley and Constable Sam Strange arrested the two accused on Saturday evening. The cabin where they were found reeked with opium fumes and the air was stifling, Sergt. Heatley said, and when they entered it the two accused were there.

The accused Chinese pleaded guilty to the charge against them, and Sergt. Heatley related the circumstances connected with their arrest. Opium smoking paraphernalia was found, he said. This was confiscated

HOTEL LOBBY GOSSIP

Summer tourists are coming from greater distances and making longer stays in Victoria this Summer, Victoria hotels report. The automobile camp at Curtis Point is also as popular as ever with automobile parties, with every inch of space taxed since the schools in California and Washington closed and holiday makers from the United States were able to pack their tents and bring their families from the cities.

FROM OLD COUNTRY

Easterners have been among the tourists registered for some time past, but they are coming from greater distances now, a number from the Old Country being among the recent arrivals. Impressed with the similarity of the coastline of Victoria with that of Sussex with its beautiful downs between the cities of the south coast, R. G. Knox is here from Hastings. Hastings, St. Leonards and Bexhill offer the nearest approach in the Old Country to the scenery of Victoria, with a climate here that has advantages which the South Coast of England does not possess.

F. M. Beaumont, from Huddersfield, and M. Connachie from Paisley, Scotland, are other tourists from Great Britain at the Strathcona.

On his way to Australia, William D. Totten of Tottenham, England, the home of the famous Tottenham Spurs football team, is enjoying a few days in Victoria. He was but a few hours in the city when he called at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to obtain advice so that he could see the most attractive spots on Vancouver Island in the few days at his disposal.

Visitors from Beverley Hills, Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco are among the Californians registered at the Dominion Hotel, where the number of tourists is as great this year as at this time during any tourist season. Guests are also registered from New Jersey, Michigan and the state of New York.

Among the guests at the Empress Hotel is C. E. E. Ussher, general passenger traffic manager, with headquarters at Windsor Station, Montreal. Mr. Ussher is also head of the Canadian Pacific Railway Hotels from coast to coast.

Mrs. Rich has written a volume called "Fairy Tales and Grown-up Talk," a book of verse for children, and her articles and verse have appeared from time to time in many of the leading magazines of Canada and the United Staes.

PIONEER RECEIVING BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Mrs. Emily Estlin of Gordon Head Celebrates Ninety-Third Birthday

Mrs. Emily Estlin, who resides at Gordon Head with her daughter, Miss E. M. Estlin, is receiving congratulations to-day on her ninety-third birthday. Mrs. Estlin is the widow of the late J. P. Estlin, and is one of the pioneers of Western Canada, coming to Sarnia, Ontario, from Bristol, nearly fifty years ago. Before coming to Victoria Mrs. Estlin resided in Melita, Manitoba.

Mrs. Estlin is possessed of keen faculties and enjoys exceedingly good health. Yesterday she took a long motor drive. Her reminiscences of early days in Canada are very interesting. She also remembers the days which she spent in England when a child. She clearly recollects her father, a herald in the procession at the time of Queen Victoria's coronation, holding her in his arms to see the Queen pass by. She also remembers seeing the Queen on different occasions with the Prince Consort.

Mrs. Estlin is to-day receiving her many friends, who are showering her with gifts and congratulations. Mrs. Estlin is the mother of Mrs. F. E. Atkins of Gordon Head, A. B. Estlin of Melita, Manitoba, and E. S. Estlin of this city.

"GIVE MY LOVE TO ADORABLE PROVINCE," SAYS LADY BYNG

Most Happy in British Columbia, Consort of Former Governor-General Tells Mrs. Alfred Watt, Who Is Again Returning to Victoria; Message to Women's Institutes of Canada

Toronto, July 11.—Greetings to the women of Canada from Viscountess Byng of Vimy, wife of the former Governor-General of Canada, have been brought to the Dominion by Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.A., O.B.E., of Victoria, B.C.

The message is addressed to the Women's Institutes of Canada, a counterpart of which Mrs. Watt formed and developed to great success in the British Isles.

The message follows: "Hearing of your return to Canada makes me a bit homesick for the country. It was in every sense of the word home to us in those five full and wonderfully interesting years, home because your people took us warmly to their hearts, made us feel welcome and gave us their affection. And all these things are the fundamentals of home. Tell them this, and to the Women's Institutes say that I remember with gladness the all too few occasions when I was able to visit them and really get in touch with individual members and not only with communities as was so often the case on our many journeys. Also, I would like them to know how much I appreciated the beautiful parting gift of the diamond watch bracelet to which the many institutes throughout the Dominion subscribed, which I wear and treasure most above anything else I possess.

"Goodbye and good luck and my love to the adorable province of British Columbia, where I was so happy.

"EVELYN BYNG OF VIMY."

TO LINK UP WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Watt, well known in newspaper and other circles, has lived in England since 1913, but still maintains a residence at Victoria and will spend a few months in the east visiting her native town of Collingwood and attending various matters concerning the work of the Women's Institutes. She will seek to link up the activities of the Women's Institutes of the British Isles with those of Canada, particularly in regard to the home ties of settlers and other newcomers.

Conveys Message to Women's Institutes From Viscountess Byng

Russian Salad a la Pringle

AILEEN PRINGLE IN HER KITCHEN

AILEEN PRINGLE, the screen star, shines as brilliantly before the stove as before the camera. In the kitchen or on the movie lot, she is equally accomplished, equally creative, original. Her public admires her histrionic capabilities no more than her friends admire and enjoy the fruits of her culinary capabilities. And to them, Aileen's Russian salad, made by a simple recipe of her own composition, is the greatest favorite. Comme ca:

One small, red, finely-shredded cabbage; one pint malt vinegar; two tablespoons salad oil; one tablespoon salt and one teaspoon cayenne pepper. Mix all the ingredients and let stand for two days. Then serve, cold, on a lettuce leaf.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

NURSING TOO OFTEN A LITERALLY PAINFUL DUTY

In order to insure that nursing will not be too painful an ordeal for the new mother the care of the breasts should begin during pregnancy. This care consists of washing the nipples daily with a rather stiff Turkish wash cloth, or a soft complexion brush, and anointing them afterwards with some bland oil. Olive oil is all right for this, or albolene or plain glycerine. The object is to allow the nipples to become used to friction and also to keep them soft so that the baby's nursing will not cause them to become sore and cracked. Toughening them with alcohol or alum water has been found to be unsatisfactory as the dry nipples crack much more easily when they are given the treatment indicated above.

In addition if the nipples are very small and retracted they should be manipulated daily so that they may be made, if possible, easier for a baby to grasp. The efforts of a hungry baby to grasp a small, flat nipple, is extremely irritating to the baby and most often causes the mother's nipples to become extremely sore. The use of a breast pump may help in drawing out the nipple, or it can be done by the mother herself who will use the fingers in a manner similar to that employed by the baby when nursing. A bottle filled with hot water, then emptied and the bottle opening applied over the nipple will draw it out by the suction induced.

Providing a mother has attended to these necessary precautions for nursing the next step is care of the breasts after nursing is started. The nipples should be washed before and after each nursing. This is best done with a clean piece of absorbent cotton using a boric acid solution, which is made with one teaspoon of boric acid powder dissolved in one cup of boiling water. Keep in a covered bottle or glass. Dip only clean cotton into this, never using the same piece twice.

After the baby has nursed repeat the washing and cover the breasts from contact with the clothes with a clean, ironed cloth or handkerchief, or better yet a piece of sterile gauze. The danger of allowing the breast to come into contact with the clothes is that there may be cuts or fissures on the nipple and any infection may result in a bad and painful breast abscess. The baby should never be put to the breast when it is cracked, but a nipple shield should be used until it is healed. This makes it easier on the mother, allows the use of medicines to heal the cracks, and prevents infection.

Nursing is painful at first but it is not beyond the mother's powers to bear up under this irritation, and shortly the breasts become accustomed to the nursing and the worst is over.

STRAWBERRY BREAD PUDDING

One quart strawberries, one cup granulated sugar, six slices bread, butter, three-quarters cup whipping cream, two tablespoons powdered sugar, one-eighth teaspoon vanilla.

Cut bread in slices half inch thick and remove crusts. The pieces should be about four inches square. Butter both sides of each slice. Wash and hull berries. Put layer for layer of berries and sugar in a smooth saucepan and cook over a low fire for twenty minutes. The heat can be increased after the juice is drawn from the fruit. Put a slice of bread into a mold or serving dish, cover with a layer of hot berries and continue layer for layer until all is used, making the last layer of berries. Press down firmly and let stand until cool. Place on ice until thoroughly chilled. Whip cream until firm, sweeten with sugar and flavor with vanilla. Turn pudding out of mold and servie with whipped cream.

WITH Kotex, women now wear the thinnest summer frocks; motor, dance for hours; in safety and peace-of-mind. It ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads" by being 5 times more absorbent.

It ends, too, another serious problem by deodorizing. It ends, too, the problem of disposal. For one discards Kotex as easily as tissue; no laundry, no embarrassment.

Eight in 10 better-class women have discarded old ways for this true and certain scientific protection.

Obtain Kotex at any store. But be sure you get genuine Kotex, the ONLY sanitary pad filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent.

KOTEX No laundry—discard like tissue

Silk Gowns Not Suitable Wear For House Work

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ONE day on a street car a little girl in front of me said to her mother, "What's that, Mamma? What's that lady got on?"

I, too, looked to see what the lady had on. It was a sunbonnet. Also she had on a gingham apron, plain garden variety, with blue and white checks, long, gathered into a band and tied in a bow in the back. It masqueraded not as a bungalow apron, a jumper, or a smock. It was just plain working apron, and her dress was a plain blue working dress.

She was scrubbing the porch of a very nice looking house. It was about two o'clock in the afternoon. In the back yard hung washing. No doubt she was using the "washwater" to give her porch a bath.

Something told me that she was the "lady of the house."

I was charmed. The honest habiliments of honest labor! Some way or another calico has gone out of style. An old silk dress, I believe, is considered more genteel to work in now. And never was it brought home to me so forcibly as when a six-year-old child didn't know real working clothes when she saw them.

I was reminded of a remark of a young woman a short time before. She was telling me about her new apartment (she was a bride) and the various camouflages she had for disguising the fact that she did her own work. "I can look as well in the morning as I can in the evening," she said with pride.

Well — one understands her motives. No bride, I suppose, wishes to look too workaday before brand-new husband, but I'll say here and now that I'd like to see the woman who can clean and scrub in a silk dress and look well. Sooner or later that silk dress is going to be dirty and germy.

Yesterday I saw a carpenter fixing a porch in his Sunday best. Spick and span suit all nicely pressed, tan shoes, pearl gray hat and white canvas gloves, to save his hands.

I felt like saying, "What's the man got on?"

Are we ashamed of working clothes?

Guarding the Camper's Health Requires Great Precaution

During the Summer motorists tour the country, going from place to place, stopping frequently at Summer camps. Among the chief dangers to which they expose themselves are the drinking of water not properly protected against typhoid fever or dysentery germs. Many camps have improper sewage disposal; others have places for supplying food which are not controlled as to the purity of materials sold or as to freedom from bacterial contamination.

John Walker Harrington recently described in Hygeia the manner in which some camps protect the traveling public. It must be borne in mind that most people are careless in the matter of drinking water. Any water that is exposed cannot be guaranteed as to its drinking qualities. Therefore, all wayside springs are best sealed with concrete and their discharge conducted by pipes to a river or to sewers.

Spring water is taken from lakes, filtered and treated with chlorine so as to make it safe. It has been found necessary to mark brooks and even the standpipes in the railroad stations with signs to the effect that the water is not good for drinking purposes.

In order to prevent contamination of springs by sewage, camps are permitted within restricted areas, and are provided, as are the trails as well, with suitable comfort stations. These must be screened to prevent the entrance of flies. They rest usually on septic tanks of concrete in which a strong solution of caustic soda reduces all sewage to a fluid. This may then be pumped out into wheeled tanks and released in sewage disposal plants.

Bathing pools are likewise provided with filtered water which is chlorinated. The pools are emptied regularly and the walls and bottom scrubbed with heavy fiber brushes dipped in chemical solutions. When clothes are laundered they must be boiled and hung in the sunlight to dry.

Every bit of food and drinks dispensed in any camp should have passed a proper food inspection. Milk should either be certified or pasteurized under suitable controls. Foods not sealed in packages may be sold, but food handlers who handle foods in open packages should have passed a physical test as to their freedom from infectious disease.

COAST LUMBER STOCKS ARE LOW; RAIL TRADE GOOD

Seattle, July 11.—The early July lumber market is usually the pivotal point in the industry, and the month to date is fluctuating according to precedent.

Most of the mills are again in operation after the usual closedown, the average per mill being about one week.

It was hoped in late June that curtailment programme for the year could have been made decisive and final as a means of returning the major portion of the mills a reasonable profit on their investment and product, but the single week was the best that could be lopped off the year's output.

It is regarded as probable that curtailment is now at an end. Many of the mills found that the single, as compared with the double shift in operating ran up the cost per thousand feet to a point where surplus cut was less of a menace to profits than curtailment, and the experience has satisfied most of the plants that the demand outlook is sufficient to at least insure as good prices as they have been enjoying since March 1, when curtailment began.

There is a lack of confidence in futures in many spots, but this feeling sems far from proper. The rail trade, which can be depended upon to consume half the annual output from month to month, promises much. The strength of the stock market, which always finds quickest reactions in the Middle West and eventuates in an active yard and shed lumber demand, the heavy crops and liquidation of farm paper all conform to the steady sale on the replacement basis of the proportions allotted to the retail trade.

JAPAN IN MARKET

In addition to the rail trade, Japan is coming on during this month for lumber supplies and will be active, according to trade indications, for ninety days, although without the wild speculative features that prevailed from 1923, the earthquake year, until the financial disturbance of late Spring and early Summer, when the best interests of Japan made for elimination.

While intercoastal prices are far from satisfactory to the mills, the demand has been good. Some of the mills submerged their best interests during late June and for the present by taking business at fifty cents under the prevailing price. It is more than a possibility that the mills, not the buyers, are aiding the weak feeling that breaks out occasionally over the West Coast lumber territory. It seems to be a failing that where the volume of business is not sufficient to keep the plants in full operation prices are shaded as an inducement for more volume, and so the entire price fabric is weakeden. During curtailment buyers lost control of the market and were rapidly being sold on the idea that a reduced output must bring reasonable profits to the mills. Each price cut weakened this confidence.

Australia is bought up for the remainder of the year, but will come in the market during August for supplies for the first quarter of 1928. China is dull.

LOG MARKET GOOD

The log market is steady on fir, firm on hemlock owing to scarcity, and strong on cedar. All logging camps except those that are serving their own mills, about twenty-five per cent of the total, are down for the forest fire danger and plan to remain out of operation for six or eight weeks. There will be no shortage of fir logs and supplies were being accumulated before the closedown as an emergency.

California is in the midst of its hot-weather season, when outdoor operations are suspended. It is indicated that buying will be resumed in August.

STOCKS SHOW

Stocks at the mills are depleted. Despite the fact that prices have not been satisfactory, the output from day to day has been moved, and any sudden increase in the demand would work a clean-up almost overnight. If the volume of business from the Middle West should take on the proportions now indicated by flattering crop prospects the market would stiffen sensibly and the coming price turn is more certain to go up than down. Returns to the mills at this time, however, make it practically impossible to sell for less, and, while the values may not go upward at any point more than 50c to $1, it seems out of form for them to slide.

Railway demand is dull and prices unsettled to weak. Considerable of this stock was sold short before the market and shippers claim they are having no delay in getting mill placement.

FAST EMPRESSES USED FOR RUSH FILM CARRIAGE

Less than three days after they reach this city from Shanghai, motion picture films taken of news incidents in the Far East will be copied in New York and shown there and throughout the continent.

STEADY EMPLOYMENT IS IMMIGRANT NEED

Commission in Australia Deals With Immigration Problem, Says Sir Hugh Denison

Winnipeg, July 11.—"Permanent employment in definite work for immigrants is the need in Australia, according to the findings of the commission of development and immigration of the Commonwealth," said Sir Hugh Denison, K.B.E., High Commissioner for Australia in Canada and the United States, who passed through Winnipeg Saturday on a trip through Western Canada to Alaska over Canadian Pacific lines.

"Australia as well as Canada needs population," said Sir Hugh, "but there must be something for them to do when they reach our shores. Therefore the Government has placed in the hands of the commission appointed officially the survey for the entire country regardless of the interests of the individual States and localities with a view to establishing new development along every possible line, to provide work for the new population. The commission covers everything, whether industrial or agricultural, no branch of the endeavor is left out. It reports each year to the House and its approved recommendation will be provided for in the general budget.

"Labor in Australia has considerable power," he continued, "and has for some time been quietly opposing all immigration plans on the ground that no matter whether immigrants are placed on the land or not, they ultimately drift back to the large centres. The commission plans to bring out people so that on arrival they will be definitely settled. So at one and the same time we shall make out country greater and obtain population.

"We would like to see Canadian enterprises establish branches with us," Sir Hugh said. "Australia has first-class opportunities for your merchants and manufacturers, and we are prepared to do much to help you."

Sir Hugh is a newspaper owner in his own country. The Daily Sun of Sydney having a circulation of 200,000, whereas the Sunday edition runs to 260,000 on lines generally followed by Sunday newspapers of the United States. He will visit Calgary, Banff and Vancouver on his journey to the Land of the Midnight Sun.

SS. MONTCALM RUNS INTO ATLANTIC BERG

Glasgow, July 11.—Canadian Pacific steamer Montcalm, two days out from Montreal; ran into an iceberg, but eventually came off without much damage, though she was delayed forty-four hours in the ice field.

The Montcalm had the closest kind of an escape when on July 3, after passing several small bergs in the Strait of Belle Isle, the ship suddenly slid on to a submerged ledge of a big berg and canted steeply. It had been foggy for many hours and the Montcalm consequently was proceedingly slowly with a keen lookout. But the iceberg appeared to rise suddenly out of the mist. It was 2.30 p.m., and many of the passengers were on deck. Others rushed up feeling the shock. Lifeboats were swung out and crews stood ready to launch them.

In the meantime the Montcalm righted herself and slid off the ledge. An examination showed that a propeller blade was gone, but otherwise only the paint was scraped.

The fog continued for two days and the ship was unable to proceed. Other vessels were similarly held up and sirens were heard on all sides.

Eventually the fog lifted and the Montcalm, although somewhat crippled, was able to proceed at reduced speed.

New Representative of Salvage Firm to Be Here To-morrow

Filling the position made vacant through the death of the late Capt. W. H. Logan, T. C. Warkham, prominent in Montreal shipping circles, will be the new representative of the Salvage Association of London, England, on the Pacific Coast, according to an announcement made here. Mr. Warkham arrived in Vancouver to-day and will have his headquarters in that city. He will be in Victoria to-morrow to meet local shipping people.

TWO EXCURSIONS BOOKED THIS WEEK

Pro Patria Branch and Elks Lodge to Hold Moonlight Trips to Roche Harbor

Two moonlight excursions are booked for this week. The Puget Sound Navigation Company's auto ferry Olympic will be used for both, which will have for their destination Roche Harbor on San Juan Island.

The Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion will stage its second moonlight excursion of the year on Wednesday, leaving the Wharf Street dock of the P.S.N. Company at 8 o'clock in the evening. In addition to the usual excursion features of dancing and refreshments will be added community singing on the upper deck, according to an announcement made by the committee in charge.

A great success was made by the Pro Patria branch with their last excursion, and every effort is being made to make the Wednesday trip as good. Tickets are going well at present and a full load is expected.

On Saturday night the Victoria Elks Lodge will hold a similar trip starting at the same hour. This is a yearly excursion conducted by the Elks and has met with fine patronage during the last few years.

GENERAL MOISTURE REPORTED IN B.C.

Fire Menace Low as Continual Showers Dampen Woods Everywhere

Victoria's unusually dull, moist weather is general all over British Columbia, according to weekly reports received by the headquarters of the provincial forestry service here to-day. Continual moisture, these reports said, have kept the forest fire hazard down, and no fires of any size are burning.

SHOWERS GENERAL

"Heavy to moderate showers are reported from all districts and the hazard is slight or non-existent," says thhe weekly bulletin issued at forestry headquarters. "Kamloops reports heavy showers every day since July 1. The report from Cariboo is cool with rain; from thes outhern interior the same; from Prince George and Prince Rupert warm with showers; and from the Vancouver district, including Vancouver Island, cool with showers. About twenty-five per cent of all logging donkeys have been closeed down since July 1 and will remain inoperative for the nextx two weeks. Light electric storms have been reported in the northern interior."

FEWER FIRES NOW

So far this year only 239 forest fires, none of them serious, have been reported, as against 720 last year and 875 in 1925. The southern interior leads this year with 76, while there have been seventy-two outbreaks in the Vancouver district, fifteen in Cariboo, sixteen in Kamloops, thirty-three in Prince George and twenty-seven in Prince Rupert.

Jam Factories

Nelson, July 11—With strawberries at their peak, the jam factories in this district are operating with night shifts, while the berries for table consumption are rolling at a couple of cars daily from the Creston district to the prairies. Number 1 jam strawberries, so far this season 8¼ cents per pound, will bring ~ cents by a new scale effective to-day.

NEW BRITISH MOVE FOR AGREEMENT AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

SESSION POSTPONED

Geneva, July 11.—The assassination of Kevin O'Higgins, Irish statesman yesterday has by some strange destiny of events served to prevent an immediate collapse of the Three-power Naval Limitation Conference here.

Out of respect to the memory of Mr. O'Higgins, who was in Geneva only last week as the representative of The Irish Free State at the conference, the delegates to-day decided to postpone indefinitely the plenary public session which had been requested by Rt. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, head of the British delegation. Mr. Bridgeman had asked the meeting in order to give the British delegation an opportunity to re-state its position on the cruiser problem.

Late last night the British suggested to Hugh S. Gibson, head of the United States delegation, that the meeting be postponed. Mr. Gibson answered that as the British had requested the session, is was they who should assume the responsibility and intitative of having it called off.

SLEEPLESS NIGHT

This reply resulted in no action and virtually all of the delegates to the conference spent a sleepless night as a result, for all knew the conference was on the brink of a precipice.

Mr. Bridgeman had explained Great Britain's proposal to confine the treaty to an arrangement concerning building programmes was worth serious study and that under the circumstances it was perhaps unnecessary to go on with the public meetings. Mr. Bridgemena decided to convoke a meeting of the British and Dominion delegates this morning to take some final stand and it was just before this meeting opened that official announcement was received that Kevin O'Higgins had been assassinated.

ON EQUAL FOOTING

The British proposal to approach the cruiser problem from a new angle by suggesting an agreement on building programmes is the same as that advanced several days ago. The British idea is to give the United States an opportunity to catch up with Great Britain should the United States decide to pursue new cruiser construction. The United States delegates have been studying the proposal, but insist that inevitably it would involve translation into terms of total tonnage in excess of 400,000-ton maximum set by the United States.

Both the British and United States delegations are reported as certain their cruiser demands are reasonable and doubtless will endeavor to show that if a break in the conference occurs their respective countries are not to blame.

THE TWO PLANS

Britain wants a cruiser force of seventy-five vessels having a total of approximately 465,000 tons. It is contended by the British that a fleet of 10,000-ton cruisers, such as the United States demands, would so monopolize the total tonnage that not enough tons would be left for Great Britain to use in a large volume of samll vessels so absolutely necessary because of the peculiar position of the Empire.

The United States delegates, who originally proposed a maximum cruiser tonnage of 300,000 tons, several days ago offered to raise this total to 400,000, but they insist they must stop at that figure.

Even should the British accept the United States total, another difficulty would have to be overcome. The Japanese have announced the figure was too high for them.

London, July 11.—The British naval limitation proposals, if adopted by the Three-power Naval Conference at Geneva, would lead to a reduction in expenditure of nearer £50,000,000 than £40,000,000 shortly, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, declared in the House of Commons to-day.

It was unthinkable, he declared, that Great Britain should enter into a new race with the United States in naval armaments.

Chamberlain said he did not by any means abondan hope that the present Geneva conversations might lead to a sensible relief of the burdens that would otherwise fall on the three peoples (Great Britain, United States and Japan) concerned.

AUSTRALIAN COMMENTS

Melbourne, July 11 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's)—The Argus Newspaper, commenting on the developments at the Three-power Naval Conference at Geneva, says:

"Great Britain has openly stated her position regarding cruiser strength, but the United States certainly has not been so candid with regard to the reasons for her requirements. President Coolidge surely must see his own administration's lack of candor and the risks of the failure of the conference."

VANCOUVER BOY BEATEN

Sydney, Aus., July 11.—Mike O'Connor, former Vancouver scrapper, was decisively beaten by Merv Williams in a slashing fifteen-round bout here.

The Canadian showed remarkable gameness, and declined the referee's suggestion that he throw up the sponge in the ninth. He was badly punished.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The regular meeting of the W.B.A. No. 1 Victoria Review will be held in the K. of P. Hall on Tuesday, July 12, at 8 o'clock.

Presentation of a gold brooch to Mrs. Ranns, of the Sailors' Club, was made Saturday by Esquimalt merchants. The club is being closed for lack of funds.

The first annual picnic of the City Association of Baptist Young Peoples' Societies is being held at the Willows Beach this afternoon and evening. A splendid programme has been arranged.

Dr. G. C. Sedgewick will lecture this evening at the First United Church on "Walt Whitman, the Poet of Democracy." The lecture will commence at 8.30 o'clock.

The disabled section of the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion will hold a meeting to-night at 8 o'clock in the club rooms on Courtney Street. A large attendance is requested.

In case of rain only the Baptist Young People's picnic, which was to have been held at Willows Beach, will take the form of an indoor picnic in the gymnasium of the First Baptist Church at 8 o'clock.

Inside and outside staffs of the city services are preparing for the annual picnic to be held on Saturday. The Mayor and council have granted a full day for the event, contributing the morning to the holiday period normally observed on Saturday. Elaborate plans have been made and an energetic committee predicts a record turnout. Mayor Pendray and members of the City Council have accepted invitations to be present.

On the open range, which has rarely been occupied since the cattle industry flagged except by wild horses, British Columbia will make a bid to establish itself as an important sheep raising Province. For years the Department of Agriculture has been urging farmers in the Province to include sheep raising in their activities, claiming that it will eventually become one of the most profitable activities in this section of Canada. The new development in the industry will be about thirty miles south of Invermere, continguous to Findlay Creek and Canal Flats.

MINE DEALS AWAIT NEWS FROM EAST

Vancouver, July 11.—Stocks of four Portland canal mining companies are firming on the local market anticipating news from New York or Chicago.

The four are: Premier, B.C. Silver, National Silver and Independence.

The first three are concerned in a single deal in process of negotiation between the Sebakwe interests of London and the American Smelting & Refining Company of New York. The last mentioned has some financing of its own under way, Charles Durrwachter of Seattle having launched a deal with Chicago and New York financiers to dispose of his interest in the Independent to them.

There have been various rumors as to the terms of the purchase of the B.C. Silver ground and the National Silver holdings by the Premier owners. One report is that the B.C. Silver will get 1,000,000 shares of new stock created by Premier increasing its own capitalization to 2,500,000 shares. Another is that B. C. Silver is to have about 1,500,000 shares. National Silver, it is reported, will get 600,000 shares.

Independence has been examined lately by Felix Wormser, one of the most eminent mining engineers of the continent, representing the financial interests dealing with Mr. Durrwachter. His report, of course, is not being made public and the nature of it may be judged only by subsequent developments in Independence.

One of the first steps the new owners of control would take, it is reported, would be to put up $40,000 for underground development. The Bunkhouse vein and veins three and four, it is stated, are likely to be more thoroughly investigated by the new interests, in event of their taking over the operations. That policy would be in line with suggestions by George Clothier, late resident engineer for the northern coast area.

DON'T KNOCK BUT BOOST, HE WARNS

Forest Fire Talk Scares Tourists, Says C. E. E. Usher, C.P.R. Traffic Head

"Don't talk forest fires all the time. You all want a large tourist trade and we want it so why drive it away by talking against it," decalred C. E. E. Usher, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived here yesterday in the course of an annual inspection tour of the Canadian Pacific system.

"Victoria, the C.P.R. and everyone is working to make this a real mecca for tourists," continued Mr. Usher. "You have one of the finest tourists resorts in the world and are anxious to get people here. Then why talk of enormous forest fire losses and make intending visitors think the place is covered in a haze of smoke and that no scenery is visible. Because a person is killed by an automobile, it is customary to go round harping on the evils of the automobiles. Then why do a similar thing with forest fires. Be optimistic! Boost for Canada!"

With regard to the present outlook for tourist traffic this year, Mr. Usher said the situation was very favorable. It was at present a little early to judge what the movement from Eastern Canada and the United States would be this year owing to the backward season. There is plenty of money in the Eastern States, however, and residents of the eastern provinces are realizing what British Columbia has as attractions.

Mr. Usher urged more travel between Eastern and Western Canada, especially he pointed out, in this year of Confederation. By personal contact, differences would disappear and the real spirit of nationhood appear.

Mr. Usher, who is staying at the Empress Hotel, will be in the city until Wednesday, when he will leave for Seattle, Portland and Tacoma, afterwards returning to his headquarters in Montreal by way of the Canadian Pacific lines from Vancouver.

PAINT REMOVER IS BARRED MARKET

POURING DANGEROUS

To pour the material into an open vessel, such as Henderson, the painter, had done, would increase the danger of ignition, the witness said.

To Fire Marshall Thomas, the witness said the presence of vapor in the hall of the apparament house would cause a very rapid increase of fire once it started. A workman rubbing the material with a cloth could start a static flash.

PAINTER'S STORY

David Henderson, the painter who was at work in that section of the apartment on the fourth floor, where the fire started, said he had smoked his pipe at noon in another part of the building and after finishing his lunch had left his thermos lunch bottle and his coat in the basement of the building, placing his pipe in a coat pocket. The fire started while he was at work after the luncheon hour. All at once he saw a flash. The whole floor became ablaze and he did not understand how he ever got out of the room. His eyes were blinded temporarily and he rushed to the fire alarm at one end of the corridor. He could not see very well at first in trying to turn in the alarm, but eventually managed to do so. He rushed along the hall shouting "Fire" and met a woman and two children. These he pushed on to a fire escape. He described other incidents of the fire and how he had helped get a woman out.

FUMES FILLED SUITE

He did not know what the paint remover consisted of. There was a strong odor to it and the fumes filled the suite and all the corridors above the flat on which he was working. The flash came from the opposite side of the room in which he was working, but he gould not say whether the flash originated in the suite or out in the hall.

NOT INSTRUCTED

Henderson said he had never received any special instructions about the use of the paint remover, but had been warned by Mr. Lightheart, the owner, not to smoke while at work. He voluntarily advanced the information that he ahd smoked while at work, but had not done so on the day of the fire.

G. E. Lightheart said the building had been erected in 1911 in accordance with the city by-laws. The by-laws only required him to construct two fire escapes but he had added two more on the front of the building as an extra precaution. Entrance to the escapes from the suites were obtained through the kitchenettes.

CHAINS ON WINDOWS

p Mr. Thomas—Was there any obstruction in the way of reaching the escape?

Witness—There was a small chain, but Mr. Thomas and I discussed that before.

Mr. Thomas—You say you discussed that matter with the fire marshal?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Thomas—Does that mean me?

The witness replied it was not Mr. Thomas, but some other official. He had told that official that if chains were hot placed on the windows they would blow out. The official had told him the tenants could smash the glass or take off the chains if they wished to get out.

OVER STOVES

The witness further said tenants would have to climb over the gas stoves or sink tops in getting out.

The witness gave Henderson a good name, saying he was an excellent workman and had been in his employ since last November.

Alberta Oil Lease May Bring $1,000,000

Calgary, July 11.—It is understood that sale of a $1,000,000 oil lease, the most important ever made in Alberta, to a big American company is pending, and that it involves 4,000 acres in Turner Valley, which W. D. Lundy, managing director of the Advance Oil Company Limited, and his associates now control. The leases are in the north and south ends of Turner Valley, including 2,000 acres in the neighborhood of the Home well.

A large part of this has been acquired recently, the latest transaction involving the assets of the New York Alberta Oil Company, whose acreage and equipment have been sold for $75,000.

TWO DEATHS IN JULY STORMS IN PLAINS REGION

the ground and cu t up into fine straw. Accompanying the storm was a severe wind and this drove the hailstones with terrific force against a number of cattle in the Bisley district.

Farmers in the Buffalo Lake district had some chickens killed, as did also some farmers in the Pipestone district.

REPORTS COME IN

Calgary, July 11—Reports of a severe hail and thunder storm which commenced at Airdrie about 2.30 p.m. Saturday and swept in an easterly direction across Alberta as far as Elrose, Sask., have been received by the Northwest Adjustment Inspection Company here.

The storm left a trail of broken windows and damaged crops in its wake. From reports received so far, however, it is impossible to estimate the seriousness of the damage done or the extent of the storm area.

Reports from Airdrie, Rosebud, the district north of Delia, Rosetown, where all windows were broken, Alsask, on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border, and Elrose, Sask., indicate it was the same storm moving eastward which caused damage at all those points. Severe storms were also reported at Killam, Wetaskiwin, Rimbey, Langdon, Drumheller and Ramsay on Saturday night.

MOTORISTS GIVE INFORMATION

That severe storms were experienced in the southern part of both provinces is indicated by reports brought by motorists reaching here this evening of heavy damage done in De Winton, where a barn was demolished, many windows broken and a heavy motor truck lifted from the road and dumped into a clump of bushes late Saturday. Heavy storms are also reported from southern Saskatchewan, but no definite details had been received here.

CROP LOSS REPORTS

Saskatoon, July 11—Storm reports show severe hail damage in several Saskatchewan districts as follows:

Loverna—Hail cleaned out the crops in this district about sixty per cent.

Eatonia—One hundred per cent. loss, with a strip three miles wide through the entire district.

Big River—Bad hail; heavy damage.

TWO MEN LOST LIVES

Wetaskiwin, Alta., July 11—Two men lost their lives and a third is not expected to live till to-morrow as the result of a storm, the worst in years, which swept over this district on Friday night. The three victims of the storm were Polish immigrants who were sleeping in a granary on the farm of Henry Strochein. The terrific gale lifted the granary bodily and blew it about 200 yards, apparently in leaps, the buildings collapsing on the final jump. The men were caught in a mass of falling timbers, one of them suffering a fracture of the skull.

The storm also did considerable damage to crops, hail flattening many fine fields of grain over a considerable area. Many barns were blown down and others badly damaged. Five Indian houses were blown down on the reserve at Hobbema.

Saskatoon, July 11.—During a terrific downpour of rain, accompanied by an electrical storm early Saturday evening, lighting struck several buildings in Saskatoon and district, causing fires.

Lightning struck an empty grain elevator at Egan, four miles from Saskatoon, between 9 and 10 o'clock at night. Farmers formed a bucket brigade and the flames were put out. At 2 o'clock Sunday morning a fresh outbreak was noticed, but the fire had too much headway for the volunteer fighters who came to the scene, and the building, valued at about $10,000 and fully insured, burned to the ground.

Lightning is reported to have been the cause of a grain elevator burning down at Asquith, thirty miles west of Saskatoon.

In the city a shed of a local lumber company was struck by a bolt, but the resultant fire was put under control by firemen before any damage of consequence had been done.

A few small hailstones fell with the rain in Saskatoon. They were not sufficient to do any damage to grain or garden crops, and no damage from hail has been reported from outside Saskatoon.

NO INSURANCE CARRIED

The storm broke over Asquith at about 7.30 o'clock. Shortly afterwards the elevator and flour mill of the Badger Elevator Comapny and the Badger Mill Company were on fire, the flames spreading so rapidly that the town brigade had its hands full saving other buildings The elevator and mill, with about 9,000 bushels of wheat and a quantity of machinery, became a total loss. The buildings and equipment were valued at about $30,000, and were not covered by insurance.

The Saskatoon fire occurred at the planning mill of the Wentz Lumber Company, where about $900 damage was done. The fire was put out in a few minutes after the brigade had arrived.

STORM AT PRINCE ALBERT

Pirnce Albert, Sask., July 11.—This district was struck by the most severe storm of the season Saturday night. Hail fell over a wide area and in the Red Deer Hill district, south of the city, the damage to crops reached thirty-five per cent. As yet full details of the damage in other portions of the district are not available. Crops over a wide section were levelled by a terrific wind and the downpouring rain.

The city was plunged into complete darkness when lightning struck the main wires. Many poles bearing electric light or telephone wires were blown down.

MOOSOMIN SUFFERS

Moonsomin, Sask., July 11. — Considerable damage was done in this town and district during a storm Saturday night. Hailstones broken hundreds of panes of glass in homes and business and public buildings.

At Red Jacket, nine miles west of Moosomin, several farmers were hailed out.

TRAIN DELAYED

Calgary, July 11.—A great hail and wind storm visited the Edenwold, Zenzia and Frank Lake district of Albert Saturday At one point a passenger train had to be stopped while trainmen and passengers cleared the tracks of debris. A barn roof and heavy timbers had to be cleared from the tracks before the train could proceed. Later the train was stopped again while hail was shovelled from the tracks. To-day the full extent of the crop damage had not been determined and definite reports on this result of the storm will not be known for a day or two.

HAILSTONES WERE LARGE

Hailstones, actually weighing three ounces fell at Milo Friday, W. R. Douglas, a druggist, said. He motored in from that town just ahead of the storm, which was at his heels for miles, but which he managed to escape. He telephoned back to his store Friday night and was told his clerk had weighed hailstones with the result given.

The strip covered by the storm, which was the same as that which hit Vulcan, was narrow, and Mr. Douglas had no knowledge as to the crop loss. The damage in the Milo district was light, he had been told, and he was confident that unless unusual conditions obtained, that area would take off the largest crop in its history. It was estimated 1,000,000 bushels of wheat was in sight.

BOY INJURED

Calgary, July 11.—Hurling down houses, barns and telephone poles, and accompanied by a fall of great hailstones, a small tornado cut across the Macleod Trail near De Winton, twenty miles south of Calgary, at 2.20 p.m. Saturday, badly injuring Alfred Linn, thirteen-year-old son of a road maintenance foreman.

Young Linn, unconscious, was brought to the Calgary General Hospital. An older brother, Walter, eighteen and a younger brother, Melville, aged five, were bruised and slightly hurt.

NARROW ESCAPE

R. A. Brown, superintendent of Calgary public utilities, and his father-in-law, Neil McLaughlin, also had a narrow escape while traveling along the road a mile south of Dewinton, where the storm crossed the trail. The top of the coupe in which they were riding had 23 holes punched in it by hailstones as big as large hen's eggs. Some of them knocked big dents in the pressed steel body, the heavy metal being dinted in places. Mr. Brown and his father-in-law took the cushion of the car and held it over their heads for protection.

The Linn boys were lying in a tent when the storm struck. The tent was whipped away instantly. Walter, the oldest, seized his smaller brothers and ran with them to a barn. They had hardly entered the barn when the wind crashed the barn down and the lads fled just in time.

It was at that moment Alfred suffered his injuries.

GARAGES WRECKED

A terrific storm swept over the western portion of Lacombe Friday night, doing an enormous amount of damage in the Bentley and Rimbey territory. The storm commenced about 7 p.m., with a heavy wind accompanied by hail. The force was so great that at Aspen Beach garages were torn down, trees uprooted and tents blown away. Boats on the beach at Gull Lake were lifted high in the air and blown from 100 to 500 yards through the air and demolished.

WATER LIFTED

A tornado struck the south end of Gull Lake, the whirling winds lifting the water from the lake and making a most awe-inspiring night.

After the first storm had subsided a storm came up from the northeast about 10 o'clock and a lightning display such as never before witnessed here, accompanied by a heavy wind and torrential rain, kept up for three hours. Many telephone lines were put out of commission and the extent of the hail damage will not be known for a day or two.

AUTOMOBILE BLOWN AWAY

A twister hit the Industrial district, about six miles southeast of Calgary, about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, causing from 75 to 100 per cent. loss to crops in a strip eight miles long by six miles wide. The storm hit with its most terrific force close to the farm of Frank Fulton, near Indus. Mr. Fulton's automobile was blown right over the house, which was unroofed. The barn was wrecked and the windows in the house broken. The cook was injured by flying glass.

HAIL CAUSES LOSS

Reports from Carseland and Nightingale state damage was caused by hail Saturday afternoon. There was wind and rain at Gleichen and Strathmore, although no serious loss is reported. Some trees were blown down at Strathmore.

Telegraphic reports received by the Canadian Pacific Railway here from its agents dealing with crop reports state the hailstorms on Thursday evening in the Didsbury District damaged about 3,000 acres to the extent of twenty-five per cent. The agent at Olds states only about two per cent. damage was caused in that district.

SEES PROMISE OF PROGRESS IN FAR EAST

the revolution boiled to the surface and created similar damage. Yet the church has made great headway in China, and this time, though the uprising is not a happy experience, the Christian natives have escaped. I believe that is because they are turning more and more to interest themselves in the development of their country. To me the change is significant, and proof of the great strides made by Christian workers afield," continued Dr. Endicott.

"For 200 or 300 years China has been under the rule of the Manchu dynasties, which emphasized in particular the presence of foreigners. The anti-foreign risings were bound to come, and the fact that they were turned particularly against British peoples was a question of strategy, and not popular feeling. The people of China regard all foreigners alike, though their leaders have singled out the anti-British slogan as the battle cry," continued Dr. Endicott. What had happened, he said, was a natural development, which though unpleasant, was nevertheless making for a saner and a better race of people in China.

300,000 IN PARADE

Dr. Endicott was in Hankow when 300,000 natives marched in the anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, and watched the procession without molestation. He visited Peking and Shanghai, being in the act of addressing the Canadian Association in the southern capital when the city fell, and the invading armies raised the Nationalist flag.

With Dr. and Mrs. Gandier the moderator attended the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Presbyterian Church in India, at a mammoth ceremony at Indore, where a fine new church was opened in the presence of a gathering of representatives from all over India.

Turning to China mission affairs, Dr. Endicott stated leave had been granted to all workers who would have taken holidays in the next two or three years. The United Church had had 400 workers in China. These would not return until the Fall at the earliest, and in the case of West China for sometime after that. British leaders in China were acting with wisdom, and the church did not wish to hamper them by creating isolated posts far in the interior. Numbers of missionaries were still in the interior, and were being well treated.

Two other circus employees, Fred Wells and Edmond Welch, both of Logansport, Ind., were severely injured and two passengers, Elmer Johnson and Iver Carlson, both of Aurora, were hurt.

Passengers on the train as well as the elephants were thrown into a panic and rushed for the doors as the windows were shattered and the front of the train collapsed, while the trumpeting of the terrified and stampeding beasts outside added to the din.

By a strange coincidence, the Hagenback-Wallace circus, which played in Aurora for two performances yesterday, was on its way to Chicago to observe memorial services for fifty-eight fellow troupers killed in the disastrous circus train wreck near Hammond, Ind., June, 1918.

GARDNER KNOWN IN B.C.

Cranbrook, B.C., July 11.—"Cheerful" Gardner, reported seriously injured in an elephant stampede at Aurora, Illinois, became well known last Autumn in this section of British Columbia, where he superintended the rounding up of several escaped circus elephants.

CLEAN SWEEP IN FRANCE

Eastbourne, Eng., July 11.—France to-day made a clean sweep of her Davis Cup semi-finals matches with South Africa, the French players taking to-day's two singles after already having captured the three preceding matches last week.

Rene Lacoste defeated Jack Condon 7-5, 6-3, 6-1, while Jacques Brugnon defeated P. D. B. Spence in the finals of the European zone elimination competition.

REAL BASEBALL STARS TAKE PART IN LATEST FEATURE AT DOMINION

"Slide, Kelly, Slide" Stars Bob Meusel, Tony Lazzeri, "Irish" Meusel and Others of "Big League" Fame; William Haines, of "Brown of Harvard," Is Another Leading Figure

Two kinds of stars mingle in "Slide, Kelly, Slide"—and so it's really hard to tell which star is the greatest. William Haines, acting star, is great—as his work in "Brown of Harvard" and other plays has often indicated—and as his work in the new picture now playing at the Dominion Theatre confirms.

Then again—Bob Meusel, Tony Lazzeri and "Irish" Meusel are stars, too. When they played with the Yankees in the World Series they had thousands on their feet, howling, yelling in their excitement.

Now—who is the real star of "Slide, Kelly, Slide," Metro-Goldwn-Mayer's big baseball story? Is it the whimsical youngster who blends comedy and romance into a perfect ensemble—or the mighty player of the diamond? Both are equally important.

Or perhaps it's the director, Edward Sedgwick—the man who wove the story together—a story that has for its background the great world series, the mighty giants of baseball, the roar of the crowd—all used as a background for a love story between a boy and a girl—William Haines and Sally O'Neil?

WORLD SERIES FILMED

It is unique in the history of pictures—and of baseball. Many of its scenes were filmed at the world series, and actual crucial plays of the big contest for much of the important detail of the picture. Famous ball players appear in person. The film celebrities in the picture include Harry Carey, king of Western heroes, Karl Dane of "The Big Parade," Eileen Sedgwick of "Tin Hats," Junior Coghlan, Dorothy Sebastian, Warner Richmond of "The Fire Brigade," and others of equal note. There are so many famous names one doesn't know where to start.

Thrills, spectacle, and romance are blended with uproarious comedy in the new picture; it is sure fine entertainment—for it has all the entertainment of a film play plus all the excitement of the biggest baseball classic of America. What more could a director do?

FRIENDS? SURE, BUT REPORT PERSISTS—Despite denials that they are engaged, Lillian Gish, emotional screen star, and George Jean Nathan, very unemotional writer and critic, deny it. They say they're just good friends. But Dame Rumor goes right on whispering.

First Talking Silent Drama Will Star Al Jolson

Film producers have tried for years to induce Al Jolson to cast his lot with them. And the noted stage comedian laughed at them.

Now, however, he looks at the movies in a different light, and a few weeks ago Jolson signed to make "The Jazz Singer" for Warner Brothers. "The Jazz Singer" is supposed to be the story of Jolson's life. That is why he consented to play the title role.

"I don't want to be just a movie actor," Al declares. "I want to stick to the stage. But 'The Jazz Singer' is my story if there ever was a story for me. It is about show people and my people.

"In making this film, I won't feel as if I am making just an ordinary picture. It will be like turning the clock back a number of years and starting all over again—for the camera."

Jolson's voice also will be recorded and preserved because "The Jazz Singer" will be Warner Brothers' first Vitaphone picture. The Vitaphone has been utilized for prologues and for orchestration during the showing of a film but it has not yet been used to punctuate a screen drama with speech. Alan Crosland is directing the picture.

"If 'The Jazz Singer' is a success our silent drama will be a thing of the past. Of course, the change will necessarily be a slow one, as it will mean an influx of new stars whose names will have no box office value for a while.

"Jolson is a 'natural' for the first talking movie. He is famous throughout the country for his acting ability as well as his voice. People will know they are getting full value for their money when they go to see him."

"The Jazz Singer" will not be entirely a talking film, however. It will contain many written titles just as the ordinary films do. In a few very dramatic places the titles will be spoken by the characters and Jolson's singing will be recorded.

Al spent most of his first week learning the difference between screen and stage makeup from his pretty leading lady, May McAvoy.

Hawaiian Minstrels Demonstrate Art of Romantic Islands

Able Musicians Appear at Coliseum in Quartette and Solo Numbers

Patrons of the Coliseum Theatre have a real treat in store for them this week, as they have been able to secure an Hawaiian quartette which is composed of native Hawaiians under the leadership of one of the foremost exponents of Hawaiian melody. This company toured throughout all the big centres and has met with a wonderful reception at each city. The liquid, dreamy melodies of the South Seas are at their best when rendered by these excellent instrumentalists. Native dancing is also another feature of the act, executed as it is by the champion dancers of Hawaii.

Miss Nellie Near, well known on the coast, presents a novelty dancing act. Miss Near is a master of comedy and eccentric dancing, as well as of toe-dancing and the other old favorites. Being youthful and beautiful, as well as talented, she is a big attraction. Several other good acts make up a vaudeville programme which it will be "hard to beat."

The Coliseum's picture offering "The Whirlwind of Youth" breathes the very spirit of the age. Those who read A. Hamilton Gibb's novel "Soundings" can never forget Nancy Hawthorne, the child who suddenly grew up and discovered—life—but listen awhile.

Having lived all her eighteen years in a sheltered British hamlet, Nancy's knowledge of life was necessarily limited. Daddy Jim Hawthorne, artist and philosopher, could not realize that his little girl was almost a woman until something suddenly brought the news right home. One night, while walking through the park with a childhood friend, Nancy found herself being taken into his arms and hungrily kissed. Amazed and revolted, she pushed him away. "It'll hit you some day, Nancy, then you'll understand," was his apology. Her father, noticing her agitated state started her off to Paris. There, in an entirely different environment, Nancy prepared to study art. Then something walked into her life and out again. His name was Bob Whittaker.

Bebe Daniels New Comedy Sensation Is Roaring Farce

"Stranded in Paris" is Funniest of All Comedienne's Successes

She watched an aeroplane dropping samples, got one, found a passage to Paris enclosed, and set out for Gay Paree. That's the way Bebe Daniels' new Paramount farce, "Stranded in Paris," now showing at the Columbia Theatre commences.

But everything goes wrong on the other side. Her purse is stolen and she fails to meet her wealthy admirer. Knowing ladies must live, she starts working for a fashionable modiste. Delivering some gowns in Deauville, the inevitable happens. Bebe's identity is mistaken, and she is shown to the rooms of the Countess Pasada.

The real Count finds a beautiful girl posing as his wife. Bebe fails to get out but locks him in. The following morning, her fiance arrives to discover Bebe involved in a questionable escapade. He sees her leaving the Count's room, whereupon she ducks into another where—!

"Stranded in Paris" is undoubtedly the best comedy Miss Daniels has yet made. And, as she is unquestionably the screen's cleverest comedienne, the picture is more than a success. James Hall, Ford Sterling and Iris Stuart head the supporting cast. Arthur Rosson drew a directorial plum when he got this one.

Plenty of Humor In Hincks' Show Now at Playhouse

Stage and Screen Attractions Both Full of Mirthprovoking Scenes

Beginning Monday, Reg. Hincks offers "The Bullfighter," a realistic musical comedy of Spain and its bullfighters. The music in this production is all taken from that tuneful of tuneful musical productions, "The Toreador."

The plot concerns one Sammy Gigg, a chauffeur, out of a job, who is persuaded for considerable gold to pretend to be the famous Carajola, the best known toreador in Spain. What happens to poor little Sammy in the land of wine and senoritas is interesting to say the least. The situations he finds himself in are ludicrous. Will Marshall will be seen in the role of Sammy Gigg, while Hincks will appear as the famous Carajola. Georgina Watt is the Carajola's sweetheart and her gloriously rich contralto voice will be heard in several of the most beautiful solos to be found in this opera. Eva Hart plays Nancy, in love with Archie (Harold Bechtel). Bobbie Stephens is Sammy's sweetheart. Some of the numbers which are included: "The Toreador's Song," "Away to Espana," "Everybody's Awfully Good to Me," "Archie," "Husband and Wife," "If I Marry You," "The Language of the Flowers" and many others.

The screen attraction is excellent. Sammy Cohen, eccentric comedian who plays the part of Mo in Fox Films' version of "The Auctioneer," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, was fairly thrown into fame. Sammy was "just another hoofer" until a few years ago, when he created his "jelly-legged dance" and wobbled his way into fame overnight.

Sammy was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he lived until he was eight years old. The family then moved to Hollywood. Sammy had been in Hollywood but a short time when his comic dances attracted the attention of Jack Pickford, and Sammy made his screen debut in a series of Pickford films.

George Sidney plays the title role in this production, with Doris Lloyd, Marion Nixon, Gareth Hughes, Ward Crane and William Austin in the supporting cast. Alfred E. Green directed.

TRUE DISCLOSURES PROVE HUSKY MANKIND'S FRIEND

Through the Use of This Preparation Many Men and Women Are Enjoying Real Health for the First Time in Years

The MacFarlane Drug Company, Husky Headquarters, Is Busy As Demand Increases

Only wonderful relief from suffering and the enjoyment of real health by those who had been denied this pleasure for a long time could bring forth such words of praise as are heaped daily upon Husky, the pure herb preparation, distributed through the MacFarlane Drug Company.

This medicine, which relieves stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments and their accompanying ills, is amazing both men and women in this city by giving relief and building health for sufferers, regardless of whether they have been troubled for a few days or for years. Among the common ills which are relieved when Husky places the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in a healthy condition, are headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas and sour stomach, constipation, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep and weak, tired feelings.

INTERESTING CASE CITED

Mr. Thomas Pollock, who resides at the City Hotel, 1751 Broad Street, Regina, Sask., tells of his personal experience with Husky in the following statement:

"Rheumatic pains in my arms and shoulders affected me for 20 years. My kidneys were weak and caused me much innoyance as I would have to get up often at night. My stomach was in bad condition and my bowels were constipated. I was in bad health generally.

"After trying all kinds of medicines, I find Husky is the only one to give me real benefit. This medicine has made me feel better in every way and I think it is a wonderful preparation. I intend to continue with its treatment. Although I am 74 years of age, I believe Husky will give me good health for some years to come, and I will recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

CALL AT THE MACFARLANE DRUG CO.

Every man and woman in Victoria suffering in any way Husky is recommended to relieve, is urged to call at the MacFarlane Drug Co. where the Husky expert is making his headquarters and where he will explain about this medicine and its uses to all who inquire.

C. W. RUTLEDGE

Mr. Rutledge, who suffered from stomach trouble, constipation and a general run down condition, is thoroughly convinced that Husky will give relief when taken regularly over a period of time. He says it is the best medicine he ever tried. (Advt.)

DENNY WRITES HIS OWN STORIES FOR STARRING VEHICLES

Is Hero in His Own Play, "Fast and Furious," Showing at the Capitol Theatre All Week; Vaudeville Attractions Numerous at Popular Local Amusement House; Orchestra Has Excellent Numbers

Reginald Denny tops his long list of farce comedy film successes with his latest release, "Fast and Furious," a Universal-Jewel production, which has been booked as the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre for the week commencing to-day.

The dashing and versatile Denny this time appears in the role of a fast-stepping, gilded edition of flaming youth, ever on the quest of adventure, and this picture should surpass all of his previous efforts in the field of fast-moving, riotous entertainment. There is not a dull moment in the sixty minutes of time it takes to run off this outstanding, typical Denny starring vehicle. From the opening shot to the final fadeout, the star is seen in a series of adventures which will keep the spine chilled, your senses thrilled and your laugh-muscles loosened up to the limit.

Denny is not the only comedian in the picture. The large cast of popular players includes such laugh-producers as Lee Moran, Claude Gillingwater, Armand Kaliz, Chas. K. French, Wilson Benge and Edgar Norton. Barbara Worth is the charming heroine.

The picture is the screen version of an original story written by Reginald Denny, adapted by Raymond Cannon and directed by Melville Brown.

The specialties on the Capitol Theatre stage this week are varied and exceptionally fine and entertaining. They include, Beatrice Lloyd, in Oriental and acrobatic dances, Magdalene Moore, concert pianiste supported by Grace Leeman, a clever impersonator, in a decided novelty offering; Betty Anderson, the lyric soprano, who made such a big hit with Capitol patrons last week, with her delightful singing, has been held over for another week by the management in response to numerous requests. The Capitol Concert Orchestra will also be in attendance, with another tuneful musical programme.

Mary Pickford's Niece Cast For Minor Screen Role

Isabell Sheridan takes a lesson in make-up from "Aunt Mary" Pickford in preparation for "My Best Girl," Mary's new picture

Mary Pickford is an aunt, whether you knew it or not, and to prove it, the new Pickford picture, "My Best Girl," will present Aunt Mary's niece in a minor role of this coming five-and-ten-cent store romance.

The niece, native of Toronto, came to California some time ago and entered the University of Southern California. The story put out by the press agents is that Miss Sheridan had her mind on much more serious things than the flicker films, and that she pursued commercial subjects in the University.

Be that as it may, she took a screen test, and will make her debut as a saleslady in the dime and nickel background of Aunt Mary's latest, which has been under way for some four months.

Miss Sheridan has golden hair, not the best for films in all cases, but if she can register on the films at all, her relationship to Mary won't mar her chances of success in the slightest.

* * *

"The Rough Riders" is still showing at the Hollywood Million Dollar Theatre, with Charles Emmet Mack being given a big play. Poor Charley. His death in the picture is tragic—but it is made tenfold more tragic by the realization that he actually is dead. He was a good actor and a great man who was just beginning to taste real success.

Tom Mix Serves New Role While Making Picture

Child Learns to Like its Porridge Because Actor Ate His

Scenes from "The Canyon of Light," Fox films latest Western, which is showing at the Variety Theatre, were being filmed in Yellowstone, with Tom Mix n the leading role. The Mix outfit was on location and the star as usua soon became a favorite at the hotel where he stopped.

There were many children and Dorothy Dwan, the film's leading lady, notes one refractory youngster refusing o eat what his mother thought was good for him. Then his mother whispered something to the child and with a pleased look the youngster attacked the dish of cereal and disposed of it rapidly and with evident enjoyment.

Mis Dwan's curiosity was aroused and later she asked the mother what she said to the boy to creat in him such a sudden liking for the dispised dish.

"I told him Tom Mix always ate it," said the mother. "That was final and there was not further argument."

Harry Lauder Fights Sunday Theatre Opening

Liverpool, July 11. — Sir Harry Lauder, noted Scottish comedian, has at last had the experience of appearing before a hostile audience.

Sir Harry recently made a public utterance to the effect that there are many young men in England drawing the dole who have never worked and did not intend to work.

The statement met with the disapproval of many of the British working class and his appearance at Birkenhead Hippodrome was greeted with hoots and jeers.

Man's Brain Changing By Gradual Evolution

According to the most conservative experts on the age of the world, the human family has been in existence for more than 500,000 years.

In a review of the evidence as to the changing character of the human brain during this period, Dr. Frederick Tilney of New York points out that the volume of the thinking portion of the brain has been slowly increasing. Some of its regions have become more highly specialized so that the brain of man to-day is certainly a more highly efficient organ than that possessed by prehistoric man. This does not mean that it is a better organ than was possessed by the philosophers of Greece two thousand years ago.

In order to obtain some evidence as to the kind of brain possessed by prehistoric man, Tilney has studied the skulls of the most ancient human fossils and compared them with that of the ape. He finds these skulls indicative of an ability for proper behavior far above that of the gorilla, but equally below that of modern man.

The experts in study of the brain have shown that certain portions are charged with definite functions, for instance with the use of the hand, with the expansion of sensibility of the eye and ear, with the development of speech, and with the establishment of human personality and higher thinking powers.

In studying the brains of prehistoric man, the observers are convinced that they were capable of many skilled acts dictated by the bare essentials of life and by the need for food and for protection. Prehistoric men were dependent for their livelihood on the pursuit of the animal. They lived a simple existence in communities of considerable size, as shown by the fact that the vocal appartus was rather well developed.

Prehistoric man had a heavy jaw and large teeth, a thick skull and a receding forehead. He was a fighter. These characteristics were essential to the type of life that he led.

Man has grown in humanity as his brain expanded. This expansion has taken place chiefly in the frontal lobes of the brain which have to do with thought, speech and reason. The visual, hearing and special relationship senses have also developed. Dr. Tilney believes that the human brain is not even to-day a finished product, but that it will undergo still further evolution. Indeed, he considers the modern brain an intermediate step toward the development of a master organ of the future.

Gold Shippers To Profit by Air Transport

The air transport of gold bullion and specie where any considerable distance is involved has become almost universal in Europe, not only because it is quicker, but also because it is cheaper and safer than surface transport, according to advices just arnsmitted to Bankers Trust Company of New York by its British Information Service. Ians are now being made for the transport of passengers and freight by aeroplane between Johannesburg and Durban, South Africa and eventually by airship between Durban and England, which will result in a saving of at least thirteen days in the time now taken to get from Johannesburg to London by mail boats.

In the memorandum laid before the British Imperial Conference it was pointed out that the carriage of freight by air has several important advantages apart from more speed. An especially important advantage is that handling is reduced to a minimum and the goods are under no risk of pilferage during the period of transit, therefore insurance rates for air-borne goods are lower than for goods conveyed by surface transport. In this way the producers of gold will benefit more than other producers by the successful development of commercial aviation, as the price received for gold is governed to a considerable extent by the cost of sending it and the loss of interest during transportation from South Africa to other parts of the world, particularly to London and Bombay. Last year the total value of gold bullion and specie exported from the Union of South Africa and Rhodesia was £44,628,600 which weighed with packing about 390 tons. The railage costs, ocean freight, insurance and loss of interest involved in transporting this gold from South Africa to other countries amounted to approximately £375,000. The Bankers Trust Company's informant states that if this gold had been transported by air there would have been a saving of about £100,000.

FRENCHMAN LEADS IN BRITISH OPEN GOLF

Record Entry List Filed For N.P.A.A.O. Regatta To Be Held On Mainland Friday and Saturday

Goldas, Newcomer To Golf, Surprises Field

Frenchman Makes Eighteen Holes Over Rain-soaked Course at St. Andrews in 71, One Stroke Better Than B. A. Whitcombe, of England; Cyril Tolley, Amateur, Had Nice Card of 73, Which Tied That of Bill Mehlhorn; Bobby Jones Goes Around in 76; Score of 160 or Better Expected to Qualify

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 11.—Rene Goldas, a French entrant, turned in a 71 in the first qualification round of the British open golf championship which started over the two St. Andrews courses to-day and was one stroke ahead of B. A. Whitcombe, the British pro, who took a 72 for the round. C. A. Whitcombe, who finished sixth in the open championship of 1923, had a 74.

Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, and Bill Mehlhorn, New York professional, turned in cards of 73 and established themselves among the early leaders.

Rain flooded the two courses at St. Andrews over which the championship is being played for the first hour of play.

The qualification play consists of eighteen holes to-day on the course, and eighteen to-morrow.

JONES TAKES 76

Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., the defending champion, turned in a card of 76. Edward Ray, veteran British professional, and Archie Compston, another British star, also had 76.

George Duncan, former British open champion, and Charles Mayo, of Pomonok, had 80 for the first round.

Arthur Havers and E. R. Whitcombe, 81, and Jim Braid 86.

Joshua Crane, the veteran Bostonian, turned in a 92.

Scores of 80 are considered on the border line for the qualifying mark, although wagers are being laid that 164 for the 36 holes of qualifying play will be good enough to get in the select 100 to-morrow night.

Joe Kirkwood, the former Australian, came home with a 75.

Robert Harris, the British veteran, placed himself well up among the leaders with a 75.

Frank Sweeny, of Los Angeles, took a 92.

Canadian Marksmen Show Great Form At Bisley Meet In Wet

Cadets as Well as More Experienced Shots Surprise With Fine Shooting

Appear at Top of All Competitions; Six Tie With "Possibles" in One Match

Bisley Camp, Eng., July 11 (Canadian Press Cable).—Good shooting by the team of Canadian marksmen here for the National Rifle Association's Empire tourney was maintained to-day in the two important service rifle shoots, the Duke of Cambridge and The Daily Telegraph.

In the Duke of Cambridge, ten shots of 900 yards service rifles, Lieut. J. E. Foreman of Hamilton and Q.M.S. W. H. Wood of Victoria, each scored 49 out of a possible 50. Forety-eight was recorded by Sergt. J. H. Gray of Toronto, Sergt. A. J. McCabe of Charlottetown, Sergt. G. M. Emslie of Toronto and C.Q.M.S. Alexander Parnell of Verdue, Que. Forty-seven was the score of Sergt. B. W. Beaumont of Vancouver, Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa and C.S.M. W. A. Hawkins of Toronto. Sergt. A. S. Emery of St. John and Lieut. J. McAvity of St. John shot 45. Pte. S. F. Glash of Lennoxville, Sergt. I. C. Bunnell of Sussex, N.B., Pte. S. R. Potter of Hamilton and Lieut. K. R. Macgregor of Ottawa shot 43. Corpl. J. S. Douglas of Montreal shot 42, Corpl G. L. Stock of Toronto shot 40.

The Canadians to-day won a match with a team representing the Stock Exchange, fourteen men a side, by 18 points.

Lieut. K. R. Macgregor of Ottawa had 146 out of 150, the best score of any, to win the silver spoon.

Bisley Camp, Eng., July 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—Sergeant G. M. Emslie of Toronto, scoring 49 out of a possible 50, placed seventh in The Daily Telegraph service rifle shoot here to-day ten shots at 600 yards. He won $20.

Three members of English regiments tied for The Telegraph's silver cup. They were Capt. A. T. Brown, Essex Regiment; Q.M.S. Philpotts of the Warwicks and Sergt. Sam Ways of the Hampshires. They will shoot off for the cup.

Other Canadian scores were:

C.S.M. Hawkins of Toronto, had 48; C.Q.M.S. Parnell of Verdun, 47; Sergt. Beaumont, Vancouver, Lieut. Foreman, Hamilton, Pete Glass, Lennoxville; Sergt. Gray, Toronto; Lieut. Macgregor, Ottawa, and Corporal Stock, Toronto, each had 46; Sergt. Bunnell, Sussex, N.B.; Sergt. Emery, St. John; Pte. Potter, Hamilton, and Sergt. McCabe, Charlottetown, P.E.I., had 45; Corporal Douglas, Montreal, and Pte. Houlden, Hamilton, 44; Lieut. Burke, Ottawa, and Lieut. McAvity, St. John, 43; Q.M.S. Wood, Victoria, 42; Lieut. Skinner formerly of Fort William, had 48.

Bisley Camp, Eng., July 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—Shooting remarkably well under trying difficulties, the Canadians distinguished themselves on Saturday in the National Rifle Association's great Empire tournament.

It was raining and the light was murky as the hundreds of marksmen shot. Three individual service rifle matches were the features. They were The Times Silver Trophy at 200 yards; The Daily Mail at 500 yards and the Wimbledon Cup at 600 yards. Each was important in itself yet the three together constituted the Stock Exchange competition.

When the smoke cleared away it was found that Lieut. K. R. McGregor of Ottawa, was among the four tied to win The Times; that no less than six Canadians were among the 17 having top scores in The Daily Mail, and that in Class B, of The Daily Mail, Corporal J. S. Douigass of Montreal, had scored a clean win. No Canadian reached the top in the third shoot, the Wimbledon, but C.Q.M.S. Alex. Parnell of Verdun, Quebec, scored 49 out of 50.

SHOTS PLACED BETTER

Lieut. Macgregor getting top score in The Times, kept steadily on at the longer ranges, finishing with an aggregate of 145 out of 150. This mark was equalled by C.Q.M.S. Parnell, and the two Canadians tied for leadership in the Stock Exchange aggregate. Lieut. Macgregor having placed his shots better, won $50, while C.Q.M.S. Parnell won $40.

The bright feature of the Canadians' success was the brilliant shooting of the team of five cadets from Hamilton under Captain J. R. Cornelius. Cadet Matchett secured a place among the six Canadians tieing with eleven other marksmen for The Daily Mail silver cup, and the youthful marksman will take his place with his other countrymen in the shoot-off for the cup next Tuesday.

The four who tied for The Times, will shoot off for the silver throphy next Wednesday, were: Lieut. Macgregor, Sergeant A. G. Fulton, King's prizewinner last year; A. Cocks, Rifle Brigade, and Sergeant-Major Hawkins, of the Scots Guards.

The six Canadians who achieved highest possible score, 50, in The Daily Mail at 500 yards were: Cadet Elwood Matchett of Hamilton, Corporal Douglas, Montreal; Sergt. B. W. Beaumont, Vancouver; Lieut. J. E. Foreman of Hamilton; Q.M.S. W. H. Wood of Victoria, and Lieut. John McAvity, St. John.

C.Q.M.S. Parnell was the best Canadian in the Wimbledon Cup, ten shots at 600 yards, the third and longest of the three matches. He had 49 to place ninth, winning $15. Lieut. Edwood, late R.F.C., and Lieut. Brock of the Devons, tied for first place.

The following results show the excellence of the Canadian shooting, the best possible score at each range being 50, and the best aggregate, 150. The Bisley team consisted of:

Lt. K. R. Macgregor, Ottawa: Times, 50; Daily Mail, 49; Wimbledon, 47; Stock Exchange total, 146.

Sergt. J. H. Gray, Toronto: Times, 49; Daily Mail, 48; Wimbledon, 48; Stock Exchange total, 145.

C.Q.M.S. Parnell, Verdun: Times, 48; Daily Mail, 48; Wimbledon, 49; Stock Exchange total, 145.

Lt. John McAvity, St. John: Times, 48; Daily Mail, 50; Wimbledon, 46; Stock Exchange total 144.

Lt. Desmond Burke, Ottawa: Times, 45; Daily Mail, 48; Wimbledon, 47; Stock Exchange total, 140.

C.Q.M.S. W. H. Wood, Victoria, Times, 44; Daily Mail, 50, Wimbledon, 45; Stock Exchange total, 139.

Sergt. B. W. Beaumont, Vancouver: Times, 44; Daily Mail, 50; Wimbledon, 43; Stock Exchange total, 137.

Non-member of team: Lt. Martin, Fort William, Times, 42; Daily Mail, 45; Wimbledon, 46; Stock Exchange total, 133.

ROSSLAND BEATEN

Rossland, B.C., July 11.—Rossland Miners, provincial amateur baseball champions, yesterday suffered their first defeat of the season, being beaten on the home diamond by Nelson Seniors, 10-5, who also have been beaten only once. Trail Seniors, with five defeats and no wins, are out of the West Kootenay League race.

Whitehall Solves Hitting Mysteries Of Ruth And Gehrig

Detroit Pitcher Whiffs Each of Them Twice; Gehrig Only One to Hit Safely

Chicago Cubs Take Another Game and Increase Lead in Race; Won With Homer

Another reason why the Chicago Cubs are leading the National League has been added to a growing list. Eddie Pick, recently acquired by Manager Joe McCarthy from the Kansas City Blues, broke up a pitcher's battle in Brooklyn yesterday with a line drive homer over the fence in right centre, at Ebbett's Field. The Cubs as a unit could not do much with the pitching of Norman Plitt, but Guy Bush was even more of a puzzle to the Dodgers and the Cubs won 1-0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, so the Chicago victory increased that team's margin in first place to a full game.

Virgil Barnes let the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals down with one hit in the first game in a double-header, the New York Giants winning 5-0. St. Louis, however, came back to win the next 7-3. Twenty-five thousand fans saw the games.

The home-run marathon being staged by Gehrig and Ruth was solved in Detroit by Earl Whitehill, whose southpaw slants gave the Tigers a 6-3 victory over the Yankees in the stand-out game of the American League. Whitehill fanned Ruth twice and held him hitless, adding two more trike-outs at the expense of Gehrig while giving him one hit.

Herb Pennock pitched for the Yankees but the Tigers hit him hard.

Washington made it five straight from Cleveland Indians by winning a 10-9 score in seven innings. McCallister's triple knocked Horace Lizenbee out of the box with a 7-run bombardment in the fourth inning but the Senators got to Levesen and Shaute and drove them out. Rain stopped the game.

The Philadelphia Athletics pounded three St. Louis pitchers hard and won 14-11. Simmons, of Philadelphia, stole home in the fifth. The Athletics collected twenty hits off three pitchers. Hale hit a homerun.

The Boston Red Sox lapsed into an old stride at Chicago and Ray Schalk's team beat them 4-1. Thomas gained his thirteenth victory of the year and was not scored on until the ninth.

The Cubs move on to Boston to-day for a game and the Brooklyn team was glad of their departure. The Robins have not won a game this year from Chicago.

WAS LEADER FOR A TIME

BILL MEHLHORN

"Wild Bill," as he is often called, had a thrill this morning when he led the field for a time in the qualifying round of the British open golf championship. Mehlhorn turned in a card of 73, which, considering the terrible condition of the weather and course, looked good enough to win. However, Cyril Tolley, the amateur, came home with a 73 and then C. A. Whitcombe checked in with a 72 and before the day closed Rene Goldas, an unknown Frenchman, trotted in with a 71, which gave him the lead.

147 Swimmers Start In Cold Lake Marathon To-morrow

Observers at Lake George Pessimistic Over Anyone Finishing Despite Heavy Coatings of Grease; Two Canadian Boys Among Those Favored to Be Well in Front; English Channel Conquerors Also Find Favor

Lake George, N.Y., July 11.—Assured of the use of grease as a protection against the cold of Lake George's spring-fed waters, entrants in the twenty-four-mile marathon to-morrow breathed easier to-day as they wound up the training grind.

Favorites to win the $5,000 first prize include Ernest Moore Jr., Ernst Vierkoetter, massive German; Meyer Mendelssohn, the nineteen-year-old flash from Montreal; George Michel, the French holder of the record for the English Channel swim; Charles Toth, of Boston, Henry F. Sullivan, of Lowell, Mass., Homer Perrault, Canadian champion, and Olav Farstad, of Norway.

Among the women in the list of 147 entries, which closed last midnight, are Mme. Jane Sion, Belgium, who swam the Seine; Ethel Hertle, breast stroke champion, and Ethelda Bleibtrey, Olympic women's champion. If they fail to win the first prize they still have the consolation of shooting at the $1,500 prize posted for the first woman to finish the race.

So pessimistic are some of the local observers that they believe none will finish the gruelling marathon. They figure that perplexing cross-currents and the cold water will prove too much of a handicap even to the hardiest star.

BRITISH-BORN GOLF PLAYERS IN U.S. NOW DEMAND BIG MATCH

New York, July 11.—A seventy-two-hole match between British-born golfers, professional, and the Ryder Cup team of United States home-breds is in prospect for the Summer. Willie Macfarlane, former open champion of the United States, is gathering together a group of foreign-borns and will ask Tommy Armour, the present American champion, to act as captain. Among its members will be Macdonald Smith, Bobby Cruickshank and Jim Barnes.

Conditions of the challenge, which may be issued in a few days to Walter Hagen, captain of the Ryder Cup team, call for seventy-two holes of team play on four courses, eighteen holes on each course.

The prospective match has been brewing ever since plans for the recent Ryder Cup competition originally was announced. The courses have not been yet considered.

Juniors Out To Show Class In City Clay Court Tournament

Unexpected Opposition Provided in Opening Rounds at Kingston Street

J. Matson Beaten by Hodgson and "Bud" Hocking Extended by Porter

A fine start was made over the week-end in the city clay courts tourney at Kingston Street tennis club. A number of first and second round matches were played, most of these being in the men's singles. Out of twelve encounters in this event no less than seven required the full three sets, a most unusual occurrence so early in the tournament.

The feature of yesterday's play was the fine display made by the local juniors, who are evidently out to prove their mettle in this meet.

Steve Jones, fresh from his triumphs in Portland, advanced to the fourth round of the singles as a result of two three-set victories over Lindsay and Kesson, both of whom gave a good account of themselves.

UNEXPECTED OPPOSITION

"Bud" Hocking, champion of the home club, hung up a similar decision in his match with Porter, in which he encountered unexpected opposition.

C. Hodgson, another Kingston Street stalwart, provided a bit of an upset by downing Jack Matson, the hard-hitting Victoria southpaw, in two close sets, 7-5, 6-4.

In one of the family struggles which have been so common during the past week, the McSwains proved themselves too strong for the Radford brothers, Dan and Dave.

Play will be resumed to-day in all events, and competitors are urged by the committee to be on hand for their matches on time.

Yesterday's scores were:

N.P.A.A.O. Oarsmen In For Hard Competition

Arthur Cox, Secretary-treasurer of Association, Announces Official Entry List and Adds That Brentwood College and San Diego Rowing Club Will Make Initial Appearance; Many of Last Year's Champions Out to Defend Their Honors

Arthur Cox, secretary-treasurer of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen, this morning announced the entries which had been filed with him prior to closing time for the big regatta which is to be held by the Association at Harrison Lake on Friday and Saturday of next week.

Mr. Cox announced that Portland, Vancouver and Victoria would be represented in all events by very strong crews and that the regatta this year should prove the most spectacular since the war. He also stated that two new organizations would make their initial appearance in the regatta, Brentwood College, of Victoria, and the San Diego Rowing Club.

INTERESTED IN ROWING

For several years past, both Brentwood and the San Diego club have been very interested in rowing. Brentwood purchased two lapstreaks and the coaches made up some fine crews. In the May 24 regatta at the Gorge last year, two Brentwood crews showed their wash to the other boats in the race. They have some likely looking material at the college this year, but have decided to restrict their activities to the four-oared events. They have not gone in for sculling seriously as yet. They will have a real good four-oared junior crew in the regatta, which will also row in the senior event. It is possible that a 140-pound crew will also be at the starting point on Saturday.

San Diego has produced some good crews and scullers and have alternated with Vancouver in sending crews north and south. The appearance of the Californians will give added flavor to the regatta which has attracted the largest field of entries in a good many years.

Many of last year's champions have re-entered this year and will attempt to repeat their victories. Des Brisay, whose father was a champion sculler some years ago when he rowed with the J.B.A.A., will defend his title as senior sculling champion. He is a former Victoria boy, but now makes his home in Portland. Clyde Donaldson and Lionel Locke, two husky Victoria boys, will defend their honors in the senior doubles, while Vancouver has made up a very fine crew to defend the premier honor of the regatta, the senior fours.

TRYING NEW COURSE

This is the first time that the regatta has been taken to Harrison Lake. Vancouver has trouble finding a spot to hold the regatta, having tried Indian River and Port Moody. This year they have decided on another change. Next year the regatta goes to Portland then comes to Victoria the following year.

Ed. Gloss of Portland, one of the famous single scullers a few years ago, will act as judge at the regatta along with Arthur Cox, of Victoria.

Sparring Partner's Life Is Bitter And Short These Days

Shock Absorbers Always Get Worst of it; Dempsey Very Hard on Them

Sharkey Planning Secret Campaign For Battle With Ex-Champion Next Week

New York, July 11.—The life of a sparring partner is short and bitter in the training camp of Jack Dempsey at Saratoga Lake, N.Y., for the last a shock absorber can get is the worst of it. Chief Metoquas, 185-poun Indian from Oklahoma, and Marty Gallagher from Washington, arrived in camp to-day and passed a trio on the way out.

The looks of relief in the eys of the departing guests, Jack Hildebrand, Petro Corri and Bill Bailey, coud be matched by the anxiety of the boys who had just appeared for soking duty with the former champion.

The schedule for Dempsey this week, his last full seven days before the comeback battle with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium a week from Thursday night, contains abou as many rests as a musical score. Jack will lay off to-morrow to star the Lake George swimming marathon and his splendid physical condition forecasts another break on Thursday and Friday

SHARKEY WORKING HARD

Speed, a right uppercut and a left jab appear to be what Sharke is perfecting for his fight with Dempsey. Sharkey's vaunted left has been noticeably absent in his early traning sesions and his right hand—the nook that erased Jimmy Maloney from the heavyweight picture, has been on display only once or twice, and ther under pressure. The right hook, according to a member of the Bostonian's staff, is being developed under cover. The uppercut is being brought into play often.

Westminster Gain Vin In a Rough Encounter

Vancouver, July 11. — Westminster Royal qualified to meet Nanaimo City next Saturday in the final of the series of the Dominion soccer championship by defeating the Stevedores 4-3 after thirty minutes' overtime play. At the end of the full ninety minutes the score was tied, 3-3.

It was one of the roughest games seen in Vancouver for a long time, and the culminating point arived when Grant kicked Campbell in the face and opened up a nastly gash. A doctor had to put six stitches in the wound above the eye before Campbell resumed. In the overtime period Grant put his foot up in Trotter's chet as the latter was going for the ball and the Westminster man lost his temper and struck Grant in the mouth and was sent off.

Marjorie Surprised By Great Stand Of Her Sister In Finals

Hope Leeming Gives Canadian Tenns Champion Run For Title

Marsh Gordon Wins Men's Singles After Long Struggle With Garrett

The scratch and handicap tournament of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club was brought to an official close on Saturday afternoon when five of the seven championships were decided.

The two remaining events, the ladies' and men's handicap singles, will be completed during the next few days.

A good-sized gallery was treated to some fine tennis, although the scores were more cut-sided than might have been expected in a handicap tournament. As a matter of fact the closest battles of the day were in the open singles in which the favorites, Miss Marjorie Leeming and Marsh Gordon, emerged victorious for another year.

Undoubtedly the feature of the afternoon play was the great fight put up by Miss Hope Leeming against her famous sister Marjorie in the finals of the ladies' open singles. As the score of 3-6, 6-4 indicates, there was very little to choose between the sisters on Saturday, and what difference there was lay in the superior serving and volleying of the Canadian champion. Both young ladies kept fine length on their drives, and repeatedly thrilled the gallery with spectacular placements. Hope has been improving steadily for some years, and her great exhibition on Saturday showed that she is now ready to take her place among the best in the Northwest.

VETERAN DOWNED

Marsh Gordon downed the veteran Garrett in the finals of the men's singles after a four-set match that produced some fine baseline rallies, but which lacked somewhat in hard-hitting and volleying. The loser, who was obviously tired from his semi-final the day before, put up a very gallant fight, especially in the second set, when he made the most of Gordon's mistakes to capture it at 6-3. After this, however, he faded, and with the new champion's play improving, the result was never in doubt, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Jack Matson was "banging the ball" in great style, and this, coupled with Miss Matson's steady play, resulted in an easy win for them in the mixed doubles final over Miss Leeming and Hocking, who were playing from 50. The Matsons had previously put out Miss Miller and Merston in a much closer match, 6-4, 8-6.

In the men's doubles the McCallum brothers proved a bit too strong for the McSwain brothers, who failed to get going at all, and lost in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Meanwhile Miss Lawson and Mrs. McDonald registered an even easier win over Miss Streatfield and Miss Fowler to capture the ladies' doubles title.

Miss Doreen Swayne and Mrs. Ismay won their semi-final matches in the ladies' handicap singles and will now oppose each other in the final.

Ladies' Open Singles—Final

Miss M. Leeming defeated Miss H. Leeming, 3-6, 6-4.

Men's Open Singles—Final

D. M. Gordon defeated H. G. Garrett, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Men's Handicap Doubles—Final

E. E. and A. H. McCallum (minus 30-3), defeated A. R. M. A. R. McSwain and E. A. McSwain (minus 30), 6-3, 6-3.

Ladies' Doubles Handicap—Final

Mrs. MacDonald and Miss Lawson (plus 30), defeated Miss H. Streatfield and Miss H. Fowler, (plus 3-6), 6-4, 6-2.

Mixed Handicap Doubles—Final

Miss V. Matson and J. R. Matson (plus 15), defeated Miss M. Leeming and Hocking (minus 50), 6-3, 6-1.

Mixed Handicap Doubles—Semi-finals

Miss M. Leeming and Hocking (minus 50), defeated Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ismay (plus 3-6), 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Matson and J. R. Matson (plus 15), defeated Miss Miller and Merston (minus 15), 6-4, 8-6.

Ladies Handicap Singles—Semi-finals

Mrs. Ismay (plus 3-6), defeated Miss V. Rithet (plus 15), 6-3, 6-1.

Men's Handicap Singles

A. M. D. Fairbairn (minus 30-3), defeated W. Carroll (plus 15-3), 7-5, 6-0.

PLAYS FINE GAME

MISS HOPE LEEMING

Spectators at the Victoria Lawn Tennis club on Saturday witnessed a great singles duels between the two Leeming girls, Marjorie, who holds the Canadian women's title, and Hope. Marjorie has been in a class by herself in these quarters for a long time but her sister's play has improved so much of late that she is now able to make Marjorie step out all the way.

Scots Revenge Their Defeat At Toronto With Very Heavy Win

Step Out Against Pick of Ontario and Shoot Ten Goals Without a Return

Toronto, July 11.—Playing the eighteenth game of their Canadian tour, the touring Scottish Football Association ran their string of victories to seventeen on Saturday when they defeated an Ontario eleven by ten goals to nil, the most decisive win of the tour. The Old Country men have now scored a total of 105 goals against 17 by their opponents.

The match played at Varsity Stadium before 9,000 spectators, afforded the Scottish players an opportunity to obtain revenge for the one defeat of their visit recorded by the Ontario side in May last, the score being three goals to two.

The Scotsmen were vastly superior at every stage of the game and even while amassing such a huge score they found time to give an exhibition of the finer points of the soccer code that held the spectators spellbound. Munro and McLean were the chief goal getters, each obtaining four, while Cunningham and Hunter also netted.

In their last game in Ontario the visitors will be opposed by Ulster United at Ulster Stadium here this evening.

The line-up was as follows:

Scotland—Hamilton, Buchanan, W. McStey, Morrison, J. McStey, Swallow, Archibald, Cunningham, Munro, Hunter and McLean.

Ontario—Halliwell, Herring, Calder, Matthew, Williams, McCrone, Moir, Gallows, Graham, Lavery and Faulkner.

Terrific Hitting Features Cricket Matches Saturday

Wenman's 126, Not Out, Best Individual Score; Clark's 92, Not Out, Next

Partnership of Wenman and Sparks Produced Double Century; Two C's Star

Terrific hitting was witnessed in Saturday's cricket matches in the Victoria and District Cricket League. In two cases the winner's total was over the two century mark while in another instance the total fell but one short of that mark.

The results were as follows:

Incogs, 201 for one wicket; Five C's 55.

Two C's, 209 for six wickets; Victoria, 133.

Albions, 199; Cowichan, 83.

The Incogs, leaders in the race, set a new record for local cricket in hitting up 201 runs for the loss of but one wicket, which was taken by Quainton. The Incogs sent Howden in to start with Sparks but his wicket fell before a score had been made. Reg. Wenman joined Sparks and then started one of the most prolific scoring displays ever seen on a local cricket field. Wenman smashed the Five C's bowling with delight and when he had reached 126, not out, Sparks, had compiled 73, not out. The Incogs then declared and put the Five C's to bat.

BOWLED DEADLY

Wenman and Sparks, not satisfied with having done so well at the wicket turned around and did stunts with the ball. Each took three wickets, Wenman having the fine average of one run for each wicket, while Sparks had fifteen runs scored off him. The Five C's were all out for 55, the low score of the day.

The Two C's broke out in a rash batting display and scored their initial victory of the season. They murdered the bowling of Victoria and all but two of the men who went in to bat ran his score into double figures, Edwards getting 46 and Pendray 45.

Wilkinson topped the Victoria batsmen with 42.

GOOD HITTING

S. J. Clack's 92, not out, was the outstanding piece of hitting in the Albions' stand against the Cowichan bowling. He hit freely and hard.

Jordan and Hoggarth, the two star Albion bowlers, held Cowichan in check all the way, the former taking four wickets for twenty runs.

Nanaimo Bowlers Comes To Town And Lifts Peace Cup

Tom Myles Defeated Johnston of Burnside in Thrilling Finals Match

Crowd Thrilled With Wind-up of All-day Tournament at Beacon Hill

Tom Myles, of Nanaimo, is the holder of the Peace Cup, emblematic of the lawn bowling championship of Vancouver Island. He won the title by defeating J. Johnston, of the Burnside Bowling Club, in a splendid match at the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club on on Saturday afternoon.

The Peace Cup was preesnted by the Provincial Civic Servants to commemorate the signing of the Treaty of Versailles which brought to an end the Great War. The honor has usually been won by local bowlers, but this time there was no disputing the superiority of Myles.

CAME FROM BEHIND

After disposing of several good bowlers on his way to the finals, Myles gave a brilliant exhibition and took the final honors from Johnston. Myles had an uphill fight on his hands as Johnson got away in front, but after careful play caught the leader and won on the last end when he had three shots lying inside Johnson's best bowl.

Myles, in addition to being presented with the Peace Cup, also received a special cup. Johnston was presented with a casserole, and Alex McKeachie and Vallance runners-up, each received a leather pocketbook.

Well Up In Field

CYRIL TOLLEY

In the qualifying round of the British open golf championship at St. Andrews to-day Tolley scored a 73, which is mighty fine golf. Tolley is two strokes behind the leader, but has the best score of an amateur.

WITH THE BOWLERS

The members of the Nanaimo Lawn Bowling Club, who competed in the Peace Cup contest Saturday, enjoyed a visit with the Burnside Bowling Club yesterday before continuing their journey north. The visitors were in excellent spirits, and played the home twelve off the map—only W. H. Peters's rink being able to get the best of the coal men. Mr. Peter is now resident at Cowichan, and his week-end visit was a pleasant surprise to his old club mates.

The Peace Cup final has made a close bond between Nanaimo and Burnside. Not often do two men exemplify the spirit of sport as did Johnston and Myles on Saturday evening. Time and again they congratulated each other on the fine shots made against one another. It was the most interesting final to the onlookers of the nine finals so far played for this historic civil service trophy.

The Burnside Ladies' Club will hold its first dance in the new club house on Friday night.

Entries for the provincial championship have to be mailed Tuesday evening. Following the close of the adjourned meeting to consider the visit of the British bowlers to Victoria.

The trio tournament games and several Dominion games are on the card at Burnside for this week.

WON TENNIS TITLES

Ottawa, July 11.—In the Ontario tennis championships Saturday, the Ottawa pair, Miss P. Grierson and Miss M. Dremner, won the women's double title by defeating Miss B. Dillingbs and Miss S. Gallery, Montreal, 6-2, 6-4.

The mixed doubles title went to Miss P. Grierson, Ottawa, and Sam Hardy, New York City. They defeated Miss P. S. Rykert, Ottawa, and C. G. Sapnner, Toronto, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

Carrick's Golf So Good Chicago Man Never Had a Chance

Famous Young Canadian Athlete Wins National Amateur Golf Championship

Scores Eleven Birdies and Fourteen Pars in Finals With F. Thompson

Hamilton, Ont., July 11.—For the second time within three years, Donald Carrick, Toronto, won the Canadian amateur golf championship, when on Saturday, he defeated Frank Thompson, of Chicago, seven and six.

Carrick, who, besides being a crack golfer, is an intercollegiate boxer and rugby player of note, flashed a sensational round in the morning and while Thompson was only two over par for the first 18 holes, he was trailing by five holes. The Toronto youth's commanding lead practically assured him of the title but in the afternoon he added two more holes to his lead. Carrick, who was also champion in 1925, led the field of 110 starters in the qualifying round for the championship last Monday when he turned in a brilliant 67, breaking the course record.

WHEN IT WAS WON

The championship was won and lost in the morning round when Carrick had a card of 70, three under par. This total includes a seven on the third hole, a five on the sixth and a four on the thirteenth, three, two and one strokes over par, respectively. Of the other 15 holes Carrick played nine in birdies and six in par.

A strong part of Thompson's game in the past has been his approaching to the green and his putting, but on Saturday he was outdone by his younger opponent, who was deadly with his approaches, so deadly that in the morning he had seven one-putt games.

There was little difference between the two off the tee during the 30 holes that the match lasted but what there was, favored Carrick. Several holes were won and lost through poor tee shots but this was due to faulty direction and not lack of length.

The entire final was dominated by Carrick's great morning round; while Thompson never gave up trying, he was fighting a losing battle all the way. Carrick won the first two holes, each with a birdie, although on the second he had an easy time as Thompson placed his second in the trap. The lead was reduced at the third and the fourth found no change, but at the fifth, Carrick dropped his first putt for another birdie and the hole and after losing the sixth, the next two were halved. They went to the ninth tee with the Scarboro player one in front, and here he opened a sensational streak of four birdies in succession, which gave him the ninth, tenth and twelfth holes and a half on the eleventh. Thompson won the thirteenth and halved the fourteenth, but another one putt effort on the fifteenth gave Carrick another birdie and another hole to become four up once again. The next two holes were halved in pars and the lead was increased when another birdie was produced at the home hole although it was not needed.

NOT QUITE SO GOOD

The golf was not of such a high standard in the afternoon as in the morning. Carrick played the 12 holes in par, having two birdies and being one over par on two holes, both of which he lost, his only reverses of the afternoon round. Thompson had ten pars and was one over and two over on the other holes.

Of the thirty holes which were played, Carrick won twelve and lost four and he had a total of eleven birdies and fourteen pars against his opponent's two birdies and twenty-four pars. Par for the thirty holes is 122 and Carrick played them in three under, while Thompson was five over.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial

New York, July 11 (R. P. Clark & Co. Ltd.)—The market reflects a more cheerful feeling which in godo part was inspired by the favorable steel tonnage figures published late Saturday. Sharp upswings in special issues featured Baldwin and Kansas City Southern at new high levels, while Westinghouse Electric reached a new high since 1926 in response to talk of an increase in the dividend. Woolworth and Montgomery-ward responded to favorable sales talk while Union Carbido and Mathiseon were also prominent in the advance.

New York, July 11 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Stocks opened the new week with the most convincing display of strength witnessed since the end of May. Wall Street was encouraged by constructive business and credit developments over the week-end.

Money authorities were optmistic over the credit situation, and the official call rate would be soon forced below the four per cent rate, before many weeks. Bethlehem Steel was a leader of the independent steel, buying being based on hopes that directors will declare a $4 annual dividend at their meeting on July 28. Activity in Atlantic Coast Line was credited to pool operations rather than to inside buying.

To-day's Mining Markets

Premier sold up to a new high at 214 in Vancouver to-day and continues to gain strength in the Eastern markets.

L. & L. Glacier sold up to 9¼ today on the news that the lower tunnel is nearing its objective, which is to pick up the ore body at a lower level. John Hart, president of the company, on the report from H. J. Thomey, superintendent at the mine, announced that the tunnel at 395 feet was showing a slight change in formation and that some fairly good ore had been cut, showing native silver. The outlook, he said, is very encouraging, but additional work must be done to determine the commercial possibilities of the ore body at depth.

Independence showed up better today on the report that the property has been under examination by some new Eastern interests.

Porter-Idaho again sold at 20, thus holding all its gain of last week.

There was some trading in Dunwell in Vancouver, stock changing hands from 139 up to 141.

The Victoria market was dull to-day. Rufus was offered down to 10 on the exchange, but there were no buyers or bids for it. Malaspina was offered down to 17, without attracting any interest. Silversmith and Slocan King were also off.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Chicago, July 11.—It will be no surprise to a number of close observers of the wheat market to see it strengthen materially, although in corn the reduced outside interest is making a nervous feeling among pit operators who are free sellers on all bulges. For the present, crop news appears to have grown stale.

Chicago, July 11.—A Kansas City man says that the situation in Kansas is different this year from that of last. A year ago the big crop was in the southern part of the state while this year it is in more northerly sections and in Nebraska. Farmers in these sections are generally of a well-to-do class and are not rushing their grain to market which, in a measure, accounts for the disappointing movement. There is little wheat going to the Gulf and indications are that more grain will move eastward than for several years.

Chicago, July 11.—A petition to the Board of Trade directors to change the rules prohibiting delivery of kiln dried corn on contracts for future delivery has brought out a great deal of discussion among the trade. There is ample room for argument on both sides of the proposition and it requires a great deal of study to fully understand all the angles.

Chicago, July 11.—There are a few operators who are inclined to go slow on the buying side of December wheat at Chicago with Bay wheat in Liverpool around $1.50 and December in Chicago about 13 cents less. They claim that Liverpool is the market to buy under such conditions.

Chicago, July 11.—The Journal of Commerce to-day says:

"The week is sure to be one of nervousness and conflicting crop reports. All the leading crop observers are in Spring wheat territory and they are there to find black rust if it exists. Looking for black rust in our northwest is like looking for trouble any place it can be found. Lively markets are likely."

The Herald-Examiner says:

"Sensing a possible full-fledged rust scare in the northwest Spring wheat area this year and possibly on both sides of the international line, the trade is inclined to support the market on all quick dips. Bears frankly admit that hedging pressure in the pit against the cash article has been surprisingly light."

Winnipeg, July 11.—The Free Press in a dispatch from Regina says that the loss to Saskatchewan through the hail storms of yesterday will amount to millions of dollars. The storm followed the path from Eyebrow Lake to the Manitoba boundary. More than half a million acres of grain and garden stuff were affected.

Winnipeg, July 11.—The Winnipeg wheat market to-day betrayed an under current of uneasiness with prices reflecting an erratic trend throughout the session. Following a firm opening profit-taking sales brought about a sharp break.

Fluctuations were pronounced, but bear traders were in control at the finish, losses ranging around 1⅜ for all months.

On the down trend a fair volume of business was worked, Chicago and Seaboard interests being in the market for the new crop features.

A light export business was worked in barley. Other coarse grains were neglected.

Chicago, July 11 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—Wheat: Weather conditions over Sunday were more favorable for Spring wheat and local traders were selling wheat and buying corn in a liberal way. Selling of wheat was further encouraged by the expectation of a government report this afternoon showing improvement in condition and prospective yield as compared with the June 1 figures.

About mid-day the visible supply for last week was issued showing an increase of about 4,250,000 bushels most of which was at Wichita and the Gulf.

While little attention was paid to it, export business showed material improvement and estimate ran as high as 800,000 bushels.

Corn continues to promise very poorly in a large section of the big surplus corn territory. Oklahoma is already complaining of lack of moisture and the middle western section generally would be much benefited by a good general rain.

Liverpool closed ⅞ to 1⅛ lower.

In View of the Proposed Consolidation with Silversmith, we recommend the purchase of

SLOCAN KING

So sensational have been the ore disclosures in the property of Slocan King Mines, Ltd., and so tremendous the increase in ore reserves of late, that consolidation with the Silversmith Mine is now contemplated. Ever since the opening up of the Slocan King property it has been freely predicted that some form of amalgamation would eventually take place. Latest advices inform us that such a consolidation is now being discussed.

Our opinion is that consolidation will prove highly beneficial to both companies. It will facilitate the handling of the vast tonnage of Slocan King ore in the most economical manner and keep the increased milling facilities of the Silversmith plant working at full capacity.

Silversmith has for many years been the second largest mine in the Kootenay District of British Columbia and also the premier producer in the rich Slocan District. The Slocan King Mine is the adjoining property and their deep level workings are reached from the Silversmith property. An immediate investment in either Slocan King or Silversmith is, in our opinion, something that should not be overlooked as there is no doubt a consolidation will be greatly to the benefit of shareholders in both companies.

SNARED

A Story of One Wonderful Week

By MALCOLM DUART

Copyright 1927

"Got any money now?" asked young Smith, practically.

Stewart Bodey smiled. "With me, you mean? I think I have some." He dipped into his vest pocket and brought out a closely folded packet of bills. "Here!" He stripped off the outer one—a twenty—and tossed it to the boy. "Buy something pleasant with that, son."

"Elbert!" It was the mother's voice.

The boy drew back the hand that he had extended to the money on the tablecloth. "Why can't I have it?" he whined.

"Because I told John Edward Bodey and I tell you, I'm not taking charity from the Bodey family! Not now or ever!"

"Pardon me," said the man, quietly. Repossessing himself of the banknote he replaced it in his pocket. "I didn't know you thought so bitterly of me, Irene."

She breathed heavily through her nose, but did not make a direct reply, observed to the table at large. "What Elbert and I are not paupers," she we have we've worked for, and we don't have to get down on our knees to anybody."

There was a long silence, Stewart Bodey eating with his head bowed over his plate, in a reverie.

"I dreamed about you last night, Irene," he said at last. His tone was deep and gentle. "I dreamed that we were young, as we used to be, together. And we were married."

The woman sniffed and tossed her head, but Bodey went on.

"We were deeply in love, in my dream; and we went hand in hand together through the fields, looking into one another's eyes. There came a time—we still were young, and you were very beautiful—when you sank into a long sleep, and did not awake. We buried you, my dear, and I threw myself prostrate on the grave and sobbed as if my heart would burst. The days went on, and the months and years, and I would bring flowers to lay where you slept, and kneel there and pray for you—the lovely young thing I had won, and lost.

"The time came when my steps faltered, and I scarce could drag myself up the slope, but still I came, and thought of the time when we would meet in another world. I pictured you — beautiful as you have always been, Irene—greeting me there in the skies where you had awaited me so long, so very, very long. The years seemed well spent if at the end your arms would extended to me, and I could hold you to my breast.

"When I was old, in my dream, the hour arrived. I was walking on the clouds, and before me was the gate beyond which you and all the happy souls were gathered. I passed inside. Crowds were on the brilliant streets—singing, radiant, blessed of the Almighty.

"The search was a long one, but finally I saw you. With a loud cry I rushed to you calling 'Irene, Irene! You looked at me and drew away. "Who are you?' you said. I faltered. 'Don't you know me, dearest? I am your husband, who has been longing for you all these years! I am Stewart sweetheart!'

"You looked again, and shook your head. 'My husband was young and strong and comely,' you told me. 'Look in that mirror there.' You pointed to a great panel in the wall of Heaven where a sheet of polished silver reflected all that passed. And there I saw myself by your side—an old man, bent and wary, wrinkled and white.

"'Do you see?' you said. 'You are not my husband, for he was young and beautiful.'

"So I crept away, and hid my head and wept, for happiness had been taken from me in life, and in Eternity there was only pain for me."

He stopped. Nadine's eyes were filled with tears, and young Pierce gulped.

"You always were a sentimental fool, Stewart," said Mrs. Smith. "Go ahead and finish your breakfast."

The man gazed at her, and slowly pushed back his chair. "I think I shall go outside, if you will excuse me," he said.

He passed out the door, and they could see him slowly moving through the matted grass, his eyes to the ear n and his arms behind him.

"He was always talking slush like that," said Mrs. Smith.

"I think that was a lovely, touching story," said Nadine, indignantly. "I'd be wildly happy if a kind-hearted man like he is would dream such poetic things about me."

"I'll dream for you," offered young Smith, grinning.

The girl colored, and arose from the table. Pierce scowled at the other youth.

"The less thinking you do about girls the better off you'll be," said Mrs. Smith. "You've seen what a mess I made by thinking I was in love with your father."

"Why didn't you marry him, ma?" inquired the son, indicating the wandering figure in the yard. "He's got lots of jack."

"Pooh! O mooncalf like that!" She disposed of the subject with a snort, and began clearing the dishes from the table.

Pierce joined the elder Bodey in the yard, and Mrs. Smith followed them shortly after to inquire of the horses. Young Smith, who had withdrawn to a corner, where he sat with his chair tilted back, his toes barely touching the floor, was left alone with Nadine.

The girl was washing the dishes. The boy tiptoed to the door, saw that his mother and the two men were in the make-shift table, and came to Nadine's side.

"Say, kid," he whispered, leaning over her shoulder, "do you want to get away from here?"

CHAPTER XXX

"Of course, I want to get away," she said.

He followed her and took her arm with both his hands. "So do I, girlie. We'll slide out together."

She was holding a frying-pan which she had started to cleanse, and she made this an excuse to release her arm and move toward the stove.

"When I go, I want to go home," she said.

"Sure." He came again and this time took hold of her more firmly. "But you can't get away now unless I help you. Gimme a kiss." Without waiting for permission he bestowed a loud smack upon her cheek, circling her neck with his heavy arm.

The girl jerked loose, and wildly swinging her frying-pan struck him a brisk blow upon his outstretching hand.

"Ow!" he said, nursing his fingers.

"What do you mean by acting that way?" she cried, red spots of fury burning in her cheeks. She stood waving the pan before her as a guard against further salutes.

"You get fresh with me, I'll fix it so ma'll lock you in the cellar," he threatened, moistening his sore knuckles between his lips.

"I'll tell her myself. I'll tell her what you did," sputtered Nadine.

"And I'll say you're a liar," he retorted. He examined his fingers. Small spots of blood showed on two of them. "See there what you done!" He held the hand out for examination.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Shower Bath

Copright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

"I've just finished making a shower bath."

"What are you going to do, Wiggle?" asked Mrs. Longears of her rabbit gentleman husband one morning. She saw him dragging the hose across the lawn. A little while before the forty-leven little bunny children had raced across the lawn to go down to play by the brook. For it was a very hot day.

"I am going to make a shower," said Mr. Longears.

"Oh, a shower will be just fine!" exclaimed his wife. "We have had no rain for a long time and the garden is very dry. Make a big shower while you are about it, my dear!"

"Ha!, Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I don't mean the same kind of shower that you do. I was going to fix this hose up in a tree so I could run under the spray and get a shower bath, to cool me off. I'll put on my bathing suit and you and Nurse Jane can do the same, my dear, and we'll imagine were at the seashore."

"I thought you were going to water the garden," said Mrs. Longears, a bit sadly as she looked at the carrots, turnips and lettuce that were very dry. "And why can't you get cool in the bathtub?"

"Oh, a shower bath is much better," her rabbit husband answered. "It is more stylish. And after I have fixed the hose to give us a shower bath I will water the garden with it."

"Then everything will be all right," said Mrs. Longears. "I'll go tell Nurse Jane and we'll put on our bathing suits."

Uncle Wiggily tied the end of the hose up in the low branches of an apple tree in such a way that the nozzle pointed downward.

"All I need to do now," said the Bunny Uncle to himself, as he looked at the hanging hose, "is to stand under it, after I have turned on the water at the faucet and I will have as fine a shower bath as heart could wish."

Looking up in the tree to make sure he had the hose well fastened, then whistling softly, and smiling beneath his pink, twinkling nose, Uncle Wiggily was about to step from beneath the shower to go get his bathing suit, when he saw Mrs. Twistytail, the fat pig lady, waddling toward him.

"What are you doing under that apple tree, Uncle Wiggily?" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, shaking her parasol at him. For she was all dressed up stylish like to go to the movies. "Are you going to make a pie?"

"I have just finished making a shower bath," answered the rabbit gentleman, pointing to the hose. "It is such hot weather I thought a shower would be very cooling."

"And so it will be! Oh, you clever rabbit!" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, playfully tapping Uncle Wiggily on the head with her parasol. "Oh, how I wish my husband would do things like that instead of always looking for sour milk pies or corncob puddings. He has such an appetite! But I don't see any water in your shower path," went on the pig lady, standing beath the hose nozzle and squinting up toward it. "'Tis as dry as flour dust!"

"Oh, I haven't turned the water on yet," Uncle Wiggily said. "If you will wait until I get on my bathing suit I'll show you how it works. You will see water spurting out of there." Uncle Wiggily stood close to the lady pig, under the hose nozzle and was pointing up to it. And the pig lady was looking as hard as she could, when, all of a sudden, with a swish and a wish and a spurt, down poured a shower of water, wetting Mrs. Twistytail, her parasol and her good clothes, and soaking Uncle Wiggily to the skin, with all his clothes on.

"Oh! Oh! Wush!" gasped Mrs. Twistytail. "What is the idea of playing a trick like this on me, Mr. Longears?" And she began to whang him over the head with her parasol, but not in play this time.

"I—I—er—now—I didn't turn that water on!" choked Mr. Longears. "I am as much surprised as you are. Some of the children must have turned the faucet."

Then he looked and saw Baby Bunty at the faucet where the water turned on, and that little orphan rabbit girl said:

"Oh, Unkie Wig! Did I wet 'oo an' Mrs. Twisty? I thought 'oo was all ready for a baff! Oh, I dot 'oo all wet, arn't I" and Baby Bunty laughed. Then, after a moment, Uncle Wiggily and the lady pig also laughed. For they knew Baby Bunty didn't mean to tease them. She thought they really had on their bathing suits, I guess.

"Well, my shower works, anyhow," said Mr. Longears. And when he had taken off his wet clothes and put on his bathing suit, and when Mrs. Twistytail was dry, every one said how cool it was.

And if hands of the clock will turn the skipping rope so the jumping jack can do some of his tricks, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's letters.

YOU can't go wrong in buying one of the better cars that has only run a few thousand miles. In the first place the former owner of such a car has kept it in the best of condition. In any case the car is built to give many years of service, and it is practically like new after it has run a year or so.

There are several of these better quality cars in our showrooms now and they are offered at prices which make them exceedingly attractive. We will accept used cars as partial payment.

SUGAR

New York, July 11.—The raw sugar market was firm early to-day, and while no sales were reported it developed that late last week a local refiner bought about 23,000 bags of Philippines, due July 23, at 4.58. There were further buyers at this level, but offerings were light and fractionally higher.

In refined sugar a better withdrawal demand was reported, but new business was still light and of a hand to mouth character. Prices were unchanged at 6.20 for fine granulated.

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1927

Again the stars appear to smile on the earth, according to astrology, which finds many benefic aspects active.

Under this sway men holding public office are likely to covet continuance in power.

The rule appears to give promise of added importance to those already in places in the sun.

Many schisms and dissensions within party organizations are presaged by the stars that seem to warn of surprises in political developments of various sorts.

Both army and navy interests are now subject to the most stimulating planetary influences, making for activity that is favorable to officers in both branches of the service.

The rule is most fortunate for constructive enterprises and Uncle Sam is to have opportunity to demonstrate his supreme ability in world affairs.

Since the new moon of June 29 caused London astrologers to predict war for Great Britain, the seers have read many sinister signs that apparently involve the United States in new responsibilities.

Interest in army pensions, hospitals and whatever contributes to the welfare of soldiers will be keen here as well as abroad, all through the Summer, it is forecast.

This should be an auspicious day for sea voyages, and again much foreign travel is prognosticated for residents of the United States.

Increase in wisdom as well as knowledge is foretold for Americans who are to enjoy a period of spiritual and intellectual development.

Good judgment should prevail while this configuration prevails. Domestic forbearance that prevents quarrels should be easier than it is under other planetary governments.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success, especially in military affairs. The year may bring dangerous love letters to men and women.

Children born on this day should succeed in positions of authority. They should be trained to poise and caution in eevry day life.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Parading on your hands, 'tis true, is not an easy thing to do, so all the little Tinymites soon got back on their feet. The Princess then said, "Follow me. You've seen all that there is to see in Upside-Down Town, and I hope, it's really been a treat."

"You bet it has," the bunch replied. And shortly they were all outside. "What can we do now?" Clowny asked. "I'l like to rest a while." "That suits me, too," the Princess said. "Why, I'm so tired I'm nearly dead." The Tinies then flopped on the ground, which made the Princess smile.

It wasnt long till all the band were snoozing deep in slumberland. They'd picked a dandy, shady place beneath a spreading tree. The Princess also took a nap, and when she 'woke, right in her lap she found a flippant little elf, as happy as could be.

Said he, "I hope I'm welcome here, I like wee tots, so have no fear. Please wake up all the Tinymites, so I can say 'hello.'" The Princess clapped her hands and then the Tinies were awake again. The elf said, "Howdy do," and then he shouted, "I must go."

Before they knew it, he was gone. They watched him scamper 'cross the lawn. It sure surprised the Tinymites. He disappeared so quick. The Princess then said, "Now we'll see how wonderfull my wand can be. If you'll just watch me closely I will do a startling trick."

She waved the wand around through space. A change came over Clowny's face. "I surely feel real funny," he exclaimed. "I'm filled with fear." The Princess giggled, "Don't you fret. I'll make a monkey of you yet." And that's exactly what she did. No wonder he felt queer!

A short time ago L. B. Miller of San Francisco drove to New York in a little over eighty-three hours. He has just made another run in less than eighty hours. His time was shortened by faster driving at night as well as day, due to a new type of flood headlight with which his car was equipped. It is the invention of William D'Arcy Ryan, the noted headlight engineer of the General Electric laboratories in Schenectady, N.Y. Miller is shown in the car he used.

An Idea of Your Character Revealed By Orderliness

(By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON)

There is no surer key to character than orderliness. Show me a person's room and personal belongings, and I can tell you something of his personality.

Orderliness may, of course, be bought and paid for, but in the average house it is mother's back that bends for every bit of carelessness usually. If each member of the family sees to it that his own belongings are kept in place, it takes an infinitesimal fraction of his time and makes housekeeping a far less burdensome thing.

Once I visited in a home where the bought-and-paid-for variety of orderliness prevailed. The house was exquisite and in wonderful taste. Trained servants kept it in a state of perpetual perfection—yet not one person in the entire family made the slightest pretense of being orderly. The two sons shook their cigarette ashes any place it suited them to do so; caramel papers and fluted paper caps off chocolate littered the floor by the time bedtime came. Indeed, the living room was littered unbelievably—everything thrown around, everything out of place.

Those boys now are married; they are on modest salaries, they are without their father's means, and keep no servants. I can guess how their wives must be picking up after them.

A woman had two girls for house guests. Her home in the environs of the city is one of the country's show places. She and her husband are collectors of unusual furniture, silver and rugs. The room she gave her guests was a museum of treasures. She told me of the litter they kept it in until the servants complained. She said the rug was almost ruined with the powder and cosmetics dropped on it. She said also that half the things in the room were nearly ruined with powder.

It is to be hoped the visitors will always be fortunate enough to have bought-and-paid-for orderliness. But if they don't, you may well guess the kind of housekeepers they will be.

New York, July 11.—Whitney to-day says: "Trade reviews at the end of week for the first time in months take a decidedly optimistic view of business generally.

"I believe you will find to-day that the advice to hold stocks over week was justified, and anticipate that early in the week we shall have the new high record established by the market.

"Timken Roller is ready to resume its advance and the stock is recommended for purchase at or below its previous top.

"June quarter earnings of Lambert and Bayuk Cigar, soon to be released, will show earnings of both issues running at the rate of approximately $12 per share.

"American Heating six months' report will disclose best six months in history.

"Hold your American Can, International Paper and Union Carbide, but begin taking profits in Air Reduction."

New York, July 11.—H. P. Bliss to-day says:

"News which developed since Saturday's close includes the small increase in unfilled steel tonnage where a substantial decrease was expected; also the optimistic predictions made by the northwestern railroad presidents who called at the Summer White House.

"The up move in American Can has not yet been completed, we think. Lorillard went to a new high at 37, and the volume does not suggest forced efforts to advance the stock. Carbide crossed 130; it is to be noted that there appears to be considerable skepticism in the advance of this stock.

"We shall see more strength in this stock and we think that the stock is an excellent one to own. Goodyear shareholders are expected to approve recapitalization plans to-day. Because of the weakness in U.S. Rubber there is no reason to avoid purchase of Goodyear."

Luxton

Luxton, July 10—The "Busy Bees" Girls' Health Club held their closing entertainment following the regular monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, in the Luxton Hall. After routine business of the institute had been disposed of a splendid programme of entertainment was presented by the girls, and a booth had been prepared beforehand with samples of work done by them during the past season and which were offered for sale. Home-made candies were included in the booth. They then served tea to the members of the institute. Sufficient money was raised to pay for transportation for a visit to the Solarium at Mill Bay, permission having been requested from Miss Willis, superintendent, for the club to pay a short visit to see the building and to learn of the splendid work being done for sick and crippled children. If the desired permission is received the club will take the trip on Tuesday, July 26. Mrs. Hughes of Mill Bay has kindly given permission for the girls to partake of their picnic lunch in the grounds of her home.

Miss Kelly, supervisor of the Health Club, gave a short and very interesting talk to the girls on health work, and expressed a hope that at their next meeting, for the opening the next season's work, they would form themselves into a Junior Red Cross Society and extend their work into larger fields. Miss Kelly thanked the Women's Institute for their co-operation and spoke highly of the work of the assistant supervisor, Mrs. McLeod, who has given a good deal of time and attention to the girls during the past season.

B.C. NEEDS MORE ECONOMY, TOLMIE TELLS FOLLOWERS

But Tory Leader is Against Low Wages For Workers in This Province

Saanich Conservatives Enjoy Picnic Outing and Sports at Elk Lake

Economy in government is one of British Columbia's great needs, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative Leader in this Province, declared in an address to Saanich Conservatives at their picnic at Elk Lake Saturday.

"I believe," he added, "in fair wages to everyone. If there is any person who wants cheap labor he had better go to China or Japan.

"While I am not advocating a niggardly policy in the administration of our affairs, yet there is need for economy," he urged.

"Let us bring under cultivation the land that is above water before we start ploughing the bottoms of the lakes," he said, referring to the Sumas reclamation project. He advocated a policy of industrialization which would manufacture British Columbia products in British Columbia for the benefit of everyone.

PLANS INVESTIGATION

Should the Conservative Party be returned to power, Dr. Tolmie stated, an immediate survey of the industrial situation would be started to find out how the business position of the Province could be improved. This inquiry would not be made by a Royal Commission, he remarked, but by experts whose report would give the Province information in which to base policies of development.

"I believe," he said, "in getting the last possible dollar out of the production of the Province before these products leave here. I believe in providing a market as near at hand as possible to the farmer. The most fortunate farmer is the one who can look out and see industrial smokestacks."

TRIBUTE TO PREMIER

Dr. Tolmie paid a high tribute to the worth of Premier Oliver, and expressed keen regret at his illness. He said he and all other Conservatives hoped that the Premier would long be spared to take an active part in public affairs.

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader in the Legislature, urged Conservatives to prepare for the next general election. He recalled that he had predicted an election this year, and this prediction might yet come true. The services of Dr. Tolmie, he stated, were largely responsible for the Conservative victory in North Okanagan.

With Dr. Tolmie as Premier, British Columbia would have stability which it badly needed, C. H. Dickie, M.P. for Nanaimo, declared.

T. G. Coventry, M.P.P. for Saanich, urged his supporters to get voters' lists in order, and so be ready for an election whenever it took place.

The importance of organization also was stressed by Col. A. W. Woods, president of the Saanich Conservative Association.

BIG SPORTS PROGRAMME

The picnic was featured by a lengthy sports programme staged under a committee headed by Mrs. F. Osborne. The prize winners were as follows:

Girls, six years and under—1, Eileen Peden; 2, Winnie Walters; 3, Hope Woods.

Boys, six years and under—1, Billy Cave; 2, Gordon Peden; 3, Walter Fraser.

Girls, nine years and under—1, Eileen Sparks; 2, Cybil Crawford; 3, Edna Lynn.

Boys nine years and under—1, Edgar Morton; 2, Gerald Coventry; 3, Jack Williams.

Girls, twelve years and under—1, Peggy Saunders; 2, Thelma Cave; 3, Olive Lynn.

Ganges

Ganges, July 11.—The funeral of the late J. C. Scovell, an old-time resident of Salt Spring Island, who passed away on July 5, after a long illness, was held from St. Mark's Church. The body was laid to rest at Central, in the Anglican cemetery, by the Rev. A. F. Flinton. Mr. Scovell was sixty-three years of age and third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hill Scovell of Dublin. He is survived by Miss Scovell, who recently came out from Ireland to nurse him. The pallbearers were Wm. Scott, W. A. McAffie, Major Rowan, Mr. Speed, Mr. Barrodaile and Major Turner.

Mrs. W. Shade and daughter Betty of Victoria are the guests of Mr. Steve Carter.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. George Dewhurst on the birth of a daughter at the Lady Minto Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norton are camping this week at Mouat's camp at North Salt Spring Island.

Langford

Langford, July 11.—A meeting of parishioners was held in St. Matthew's Church on Friday evening. The Rev. H. B. Allen was chairman, and Mrs. H. A. Hincks was appointed secretary. The chairman explained the object of the meeting was to discuss what form the war memorial should take, $31.90 being in hand for this purpose, which had been raised by talent money in 1922 by the W.A., but left in abeyance until the new church was built. A pulpit with a suitable inscription upon it was decided upon. A working committee was appointed, consisting of the Rev. Mr. Allen, the two church wardens, G. Heal and J. W. Jolley, Dr. D. Donald and Mrs. H. A. Hincks, to raise the balance of the money required for the memorial. Five of the parishioners offered to canvass the neighborhood. It is hoped to have the objective raised by September.

Invitations are issued for the Midsummer musical recital of Horace Simpson's pupils to be held in the schoolhouse on Wednesday evening, July 13. They will be assisted by vocal soloists, pupils of Mrs. Mary McCoy Jamieson of Victoria.

Councillor and Mrs. Pomeroy of Esquimalt are staying at their new cottage on Langford Lake for the Summer months.

Mrs. L. T. Wilkinson of Goldstream Road, Langford, has the sympathy of her many friends in the death of her father, Arthur Dresser, in England.

Saturday afternoon proved an ideal one for tennis, and many players were present on the Langford court. Tea was served by Miss Ada Simpson and Miss Wilma Pike.

The two lifebuoys purchased last year by the Langford Women's Institute and friends have been hung on the north side of Langford Lake by kind permission of H. C. C. Bennett, and on the east side on H. Catterall's beach for emergency use only.

The annual school meeting was held on Saturday evening in the schoolhouse. Henry Pearce was elected chairman, and Mrs. I. W. P. Jackson, secretary for the evening. The meeting elected Herbert Pearce trustee for three years, and Mrs. J. W. P. Jackson to serve for two years. H. A. Hincks was re-elected auditor. The medical inspector's report was considered very satisfactory. A letter was read by the chairman from Miss Phyllis Sutton resigning her position as principal, as she had accepted a position at Esquimalt.

Mrs. Percy Welch's application for teacher of the senior room was accepted by the board of trustees.

They Must Learn Somewhere to Get Along Together

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

One cannot escape the inevitable debate on co-education. The newspapers, reviews and magazines are full of articles that scale the ladder of literary and educational fitness from the greenest freshmen to the university presidents themselves.

We decide that since it is either too early, or too impossible, or too unnecessary to come to any definite conclusion in the matter and we would better drop it, and others should do the same—only to discover that the crop of periodicals for the coming month attacks the question anew more fully or more belligerently than ever, on either one side or the other.

Mr. Frank R. Arnold's article a short time ago called "The Mating Season of Co-education" brought forth a storm of letters. Some students protested that they had been so busy getting acquainted with life and people, as well as acquiring skill in, and knowledge of their professions, that they did not have time or inclination to be led by their emotions.

On the other hand many wrote substantiating the words of a co-ed graduate who said "it was true that a girl was considered a flat-tire socially and intellectually if she did not have a man with her every time she appeared on the campus."

Mr. Arnold goes still further and implies that not only pupils but teachers, "when thinking of women, find it difficult to think of their work."

One cannot give a personal opinion without data, that it would be well nigh impossible to get. But I do know of check lists of at least three large universities whose records for cases of immorality were almost negligible.

As an English army officer said, "Let's face it." From now on we expect to live in a man-and-woman world—not a man world. We have to learn the gentle art of living shoulder to shoulder, learning the world's lessons and doing the world's work together and keeping sex in the background. A few weak ones will go to the wall, but every boy and every girl must learn that in the new world before them law must begin with self.

It may as well be learned in a co-educational university as anywhere else.

ALL ISLAND HELPS BUILD CATHEDRAL

Nearly Seventy Different Points Included on List of Subscription Centres

Already nearly seventy seperate districts have contributed towards the new Christ Church Cathedral in the course of construction here, and the whole of Vancouver Island is watching the work with interest. Under the personal supervision of J. C. M. Keith, the architect, the walls of the nave are being built of Newcastle stone and concrete.

The edifice last through centuries of time. It is with this knowledge that some of the communities donating money to the church request that it be placed for the purchase of stained glass windows, believing that in these would be a lasting memorial to the work of the building subscribers.

Following are some of the districts which have already sent their contribution for the building work: Alberni, Alert Bay, Blainey's, Brentwood, Cedar, Cedar Hill, Central Lake, Chemainus, Cherry Point, Cobble Hill, Colquitz, Colwood, Comox, Courtenay, Cowichan, Crofton, Cumberland, Deep Cove, Duncan, East Saanich, Errington, Esquimalt, French Creek, Galiano Island, Glyn, Hilliers, Keating, Kildonan, Koksilah, Ladysmith, Langford, Lazo, Luxton, Marigold, Mayne Island, Metchosin, Musgrave Landing, Nanaimo, Oak Bay, Parksville, Patricia Bay, Pender Island, Port Alberni, Port Alice, Qualicum Beach, Quamichan, Rocky Point, Royal Oak, Saanichton, Saltair, Salt Spring Island, Sandwick, Saturna Island, Shawnigan Lake, Sidney, Somenos, Sooke, South Pender Island, Strawberry Vale, Thetis Island, Tillicum, Tod Inlet, Tofino, Union Bay, Victoria, Wellington, Westholme, West Saanich, William Head.

O'HIGGINS MURDERED BY DUBLIN GANG

Mr. O'Higgins had left his house to attend mid-day mass. When he was proceeding along an avenue, a motor car with three men drove close to the footpath and fire was immediately opened on the Minister.

Four bullets went through the neck, one passed into the chest and another through the ear to the base of the brain. But the sorely wounded man retained consciousness, and to those about him said:

"I am dying at peace with my enemies. I die for my country. I go to join Michael Collins."

Mr. O'Higgins was usually accompanied by a detective, but yesterday, when starting for the Booterstown Catholic Church for mass, he told his escort for the first time in three years to remain at home. He was taken entirely by surprise when attacked. The first shot struck him in the abdomen, but he managed to stagger across the road, where he collapsed. His assailants fired five or more other bullets into his head and body before springing into their car and driving rapidly away.

DICTATED WILL

The first to reach the wounded Minister were Eamonn Fleming, an offical of the Ministry of Finance, his brother and Prof. John MacNeill, former Minister of Education.

Fleming raised his head and O'Higgins whispered huskily: "They have got me, just as they got my father," and later he said: "I forgive them. I die at peace with my enemies and my God."

Turning to Prof. MacNeill, he said: "There is no hope. I want to dictate my will."

MacNeill knelt on the bloodstained footpath and in a clear voice O'Higgins dictated his will, leaving everything he possessed to his wife and baby daughter.

T. Hogan, Minister of Agriculture, and P. MacGilligan, Minister of Commerce, were in the O'Higgins house preparing to go golfing, when they heard the shots and hurried to the scene.

DESCRIBED ASSAILANTS

They assisted in moving him to his home. He was conscious to within half an hour of his death, and was able to describe the attack and those who attacked him.

The best surgeons in Dublin were summoned to his home, but they could do nothing to save his life. Despite his terrible wounds his mind remained clear to the end, and the doctors marvelled at his vitality. He embraced his wife and child and said farewell to a number of friends.

"Kevin, while there is life, there is hope," one of them said encouragingly.

"Ah, there is no hope," the Minister declared in his old cynical manner. "But I was always a bit of a die-hard."

Soon police in all parts of Dublin and outlying districts held up and searched all automobiles. They examined numerous houses and garages, but no trace of the assassins was found.

A meeting of the Free State Cabinet was held last evening for the purpose of taking action in what is considered a serious situation.

O'Higgins was regarded as "the strong man" of the Government. During the recent election campaign he toured the country, speaking in nearly every county in favor of the Government candidates.

NEPHEW OF HEALY

Kevin O'Higgins was a nephew by marriage of Governor-General Timothy Healy. He began his career as an articled clerk to Maurice Healy in Cork. During the disorders of 1919-21 he was arrested and held in the Belfast prison. Upon his release he was appointed by Esmonn de Valera, Republican leader, as assistant to William T. Cosgrave, in the local government board set up by the Sinn Feiners. But he supported the treaty of December, 1921, and was made Minister of Justice in 1922.

Later in 1922 his father was shot dead in Queen's County.

As Minister of Justice O'Higgins was largely responsible for the administration of the law during 1922-23, when seventy-seven irregulars were executed. In the recent changes in the Cabinet he was appointed both Minister of Justice and Minister of Foreign Affairs, and in the latter capacity went to Geneva to the League of Nations council meeting, returning to Dublin last Friday.

RESPECTED AND HATED

O'Higgins was probably the most respected and at the same time most hated man in Ireland. Combined with his gift of incisive and bitter speech was a keen analytical mind and inflexible will. But for him it is considered doubtful if the Free State could have survived the civil war of 1922.

REGRET VOICED

London, July 11.—Expressions of regret and indignation were heard in London to-day over the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins. He had many friends and admirers here, and only last week, returning from Geneva, he visited several British Ministers, to whom the news brought a natural sensation of shock over the death of one recently seen in health and full activity.

A number of prominent British political leaders made statements of regret and admiration for publication Rt. Hon. L. C. Amery, Secretary for the Dominions, sent the condolences of the Government to William T. Cosgrave, head of the Free State Cabinet.

Fears are expressed in some newspapers that the murder may mark the beginning of a fresh period of lawlessness in the Irish Free State, a renewal of civil war. Of this, however, there is no present indication, and as far as reported here, the only excitement in Ireland yesterday arose from indignation over the assassination.

POLITICAL MOTIVES

Special dispatches suggest the probability that political motives inspired the assassination. The special correspondent of The London Daily Mail, who reported the recent elections in the Free State, declares: "It is impossibel to say from which section came the Vice-President's death warrant. He had enemies throughout the country."

The enmity he had awakened is ascribed in many dispatches to the utter fearlessness with which he followed any course he believed right in the interests of the Government. It is recalled that when imprecations were hurled at him he took the challenge swiftly and lashed his opponents with fury.

RESPONSIBILITY DISAVOWED

The republican army council and headquarters staff, says the Dublin correspondent of The London Daily Mail, has disavowed knowledge of the shooting and repudiated responsibility. In a statement the adjustant-general is quoted as saying:

"We feel certain the responsibility, when traced home, will not involve any of our volunteers."

STATEMENT BY COSGRAVE

William T. Cosgrave, President of the Executive Council of the Irish State, issued the following statement last night:

"Kevin O'Higgins was shot down this mornink on the way to mass. The Vice-President of the Executive Council has been struck down by the hand of the assassin.

"In this hour of national loss and national mourning, mindful of the steadfast heroic figure, the Irish people will not falter.

"Kevin O'Higgins, in his dauntless courage and unflinching determination, has trodden the path blazed by Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith, even unto death. Aonther great defender of the nation has passed away

NOT TERRORIZED

"The Irish people may rest assured that the assassins' bullets will not succeed in terrorizing this country. There are and will be men undisheartened by the noble example of the late Vice-President and, profiting by his labors, ready to step into his place and maintain his high tradition of devotion to the welfare nod safety of the nation."

WILL RALLY CILTIZENS

The crime aasginst O'Higgins, The Irish Times believes, will rally the whole nation to the Government's support and inspire all parties in Parliament with a new sense of responsibility. The paper calls for quiet testimony of faith in the Government's stock and the country's destinies.

The Independent says the country has not even the solace afforded by the knowledge that an individual of unbalanced mind was responsible because "the fatal ambuscade was carefully planned by men determined on attaining their object."

Ladysmith

Ladysmith, July 11. The fortnightly whist drive held Friday evening in the Oyster Schoolhouse proved a most enjoyable affair. The prizewinners were: Ladies' first, Ida May Davis; second, Mrs. F. DeFrane; gentlemen, first, Mrs. F. Dooley, substitute; second, Mrs. F. Doumont, substitute. A box of chocolates were won by Mrs. F. Spineto. Following the games refreshments were served, after which dancing was enjoyed.

Mrs. J. Celle entertained at her home Friday evening at a most enjoyable card party, the occasion being her birthday, and after the games, of which Mrs. J. Ryan Jr., Mrs. G. Inkster, Mrs. W. Sanderson, Mrs. A. Babbie and Mrs. R. Ross were the successful winners, a dainty buffet supper was served, the tea-table being centred with a lovely birthday cake.

Mrs. A. Radford and son Tommy, were visitors to Vancouver this week-end.

A quiet wedding took place recently in Vancouver at the home of the bride's parents when the Rev. Mr. Daniels united in marriage, Miss Eileen Mason, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mason and Mr. Norval Caslake. The rooms were prettily decorated with pink and white streamers and flowers Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becomingly gowned in periwinkle blue crepe romaine, embroidered in silver design on the sleeves and skirt; with this was worn a bandeau of orange blossom and she carried bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Christine Rowe attended as bridesmaid wearing a dress of pale pink crepe de Chine and cream lace. The little flower girl, Miss Dorothy Mason, sister of the bride, looked pretty in a frock of peach and pink shot taffeta with ivory lace trimmings. Harold Fowler acted as best man. A reception followed the ceremony when the bridal table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake circled with pink tulle, and silver vases of pink and white roses were placed at each corner. Mr. and Mrs. Caslake left for a honeymoon in Seattle, the bride wearing for travel a black corded silk coat over her wedding dress and a white hat. They will upon their return, reside in Vancouver. The bride is well known in Ladysmith where she resided with her parents.

Little Harry Clarke entertained a number of his chums on Friday, at the home of his parents, it being his seventh birthday. A jolly time was spent after which the guests all sat down to a sumptuous supper.

Mrs. M. Felton and son, Ernest, left on Saturday for Victoria en route for Port Alice, where she will spend some time.

Lazar S. Samoiloff, known throughout the world for his gift of imparting the knowledge he possesses to prospective singers, will be a visitor to Victoria next Friday and Saturday at the B.C. Academy of Music for interviews and voice tests.

The famous New York teacher spends six months of each year on the Pacific Coast making his headquarters in San Francisco, but this is the first time that he has included Victoria. Besides his wonderful knowledge of music, Mr. Samoiloff has a great gift which makes interviews and tests invaluable. As well as detecting immediately a singer's ability or lack of ability, he is able to so clearly outline his advice that it never fails to prove effective the three western provinces for its distribution of the growing export surpluses of the Western country.

PROMISING FIELD

Analyzing this field His Worship showed Alberta butter exports had grown from $1,000,000 to $20,000,000 in recent years, with a large export surplus which could be handled from Victoria for the markets of the world. The same applied, he said, to B.C. apples, worth $475,000 a year and lacking marketing facilities. In Washington and Oregon, by reason of these facilities apple exports had grown 500 per cent. in five years. Over 51,000,000 pounds of salmon were handled in coastal waters, with Victoria showing a saving of from two to three cents a pound if the fish could be received and shipped from here. Both U.S. and Canadian fish could be handled, the former in bond for export. Fishing boats would find this port ideal for the purpose and make a considerable saving in money as well as in additional time on the fishing grounds.

SUCCESS AT SEATTLE

On this phase of the question a New York fish buyer had told him that he would open an office in Victoria if the cold storage facility was created, sure of the connection that would be built up.

Touching on operation the Mayor stated the proposed company would control patent rights to the latest methods of cold storage warehousing, and were assured of their revenue through the service they could offer to the entire Western territory. Seattle, with old-fashioned equipment had realized twenty-seven per cent. on its cold storage facilities under the Harbor Board and this had proved the most profitable undertaking on the Horbor Board's budget.

Realizing the importance of cold storage and terminal facilities the Government had passed an act making provision for advancing one third of the cost of equipment to established enterprises, and any such bonus in this case would serve to reduce the city's liability still further.

Touching on stays in the negotiations and legal difficulties Mayor Pendray said these had been cleared away. He had been misquoted as saying that he held a letter from Hanson Bros., giving Mr. Brown and associates ninety days in which to go ahead, whereas he had said he had seen that letter, which was a fact. The city in seeking to vary the terms of the agreement with Mr. Brown had been trying to drive a harder bargain, but was willing and ready to go ahead on the original basis. Mr. Brown was assured of his original backing and other financing if for any reason that was not forthcoming.

Ot its best the cold storage facility would build up an important basic industry here and without much if any call on the people's money. At the worst it adds $1.80 per year for ten years to the normal tax bill of $75. The city was anxious to tell the whole story, and answer any questions that would be raised. Plenty of time had been given for objections from within the council in the earlier stages of the negotiations and none had been forthcoming at that time. Legal difficulties had developed but were capable of an easy solution, as the company would undertake to avoid conflict with all local business.

Something of the operation of a cold storage business was told the meeting by H. G. Brown. The by-law, he said, had been well set out in The Times and The Colonist, and both papers had devoted considerable space to the merits of the plans.

PIVOTAL POINT

Victoria, said Mr. Brown, was a pivotal point in the distribution of perishable produce, and there was a real necessity for proper cold storage facilities with modern equipment. The business would be largely export and import without reference to the local field, except in so far as drawing also from Vancouver Island fields and fish catches were concerned. The yield of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan was increasing to export quantities and this meant continued and increasing business for a plant such as was proposed at this time. This was an opportunity for Canadians to take advantage of normal growth of their own country, continued Mr. Brown, who stated that there had been no failure yet in cold storage business were such business was conducted on modern lines and with proper management. Canada had 397 plants, and all of them were operating to a success. British Columbia with the greatest need had the least facility of any in this regard.

Vancouver, said Mr. Brown, was under a disadvantage to Victoria in this respect that it would require an investment of $1,000,000 to acquire a commercial waterfront site with tidewater docks. Here these assets could be secured at a fraction of the figure. His company would have $700,000 at risk in the venture, and they had studied the situation very closely before making any proposals to the city.

On operation, continued Mr. Brown, $500 000 would be spent for the erection of the plant, and $37,000 a year for salaries, wages and operation. Fifteen to eighteen men would receive steady employment, and large gangs of stevedores would be employed on piece work to handle the cargoes, in and out.

In closing the debate William Maynard Jr., chairman, said the cold storage project had his undivided support. The meeting then endorsed the project by an unanimous vote.

RECALL OF CONSUL IS ASKED BY TORIES

Montreal, July 11.—The recall of Baron de Vitrolles, consul-general of France in Canada, on a charge of "interference in the political affairs of the province of Quebec,' was demanded yesterday by Camillie N. Houde, former M.P.P. for St. Mary's division, who addressed a large gathering of Conservative electors here. The meeting was to select four representatives of the Hochelaga division of Montreal for the National Conservative Convention to be held in Winnipeg in October.

The Junior Conservative Association of Montreal had already presented a resolution of protest against the action of the French Republic in granting decorations in the course of an election campaign, when some time ago promotion in the Legion of Honor of France was given to Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, and Hon. L. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary. These decorations, Mr. Houde alleged, had been employed by the Provincial Government party to exploit feeling among the people, the argument being used that France, in thus honoring two distinguished sons of Quebec, was testifying to the high esteem in which they were held in France.

"We do not want foreign interference in our election affairs," said Mr. Houde, who move a resolution that Baron de Vitrolles, whom he held responsible for this condition of affairs, be recalled, and that Aristide Brian, Foreign Minister of France, be requested to take the necessary action.

The meeting passed the resolution.

WOULD GIVE POOLS ALL WHEAT CONTROL

Winnipeg, July 11.—Here Saturday en route home to Chicago, Aaron Sapiro, a co-operative marketing expert, denied that he had suggested compulsory co-operative marketing during his recent visit to Saskatchewan.

"To say that I suggested compulsory co-operative marketing is a gross misrepresentation of my remarks," said Mr. Sapiro.

"What I suggested," he added, "was that if two-thirds or three-quarters of the farmers signed the co-operative agreement, which would be voluntary co-operation—the wheat of all the groups should be delivered to the pool. This would not mean that the men would be members of the co-operative, but merely that the organization would serve them. This voluntary pool of farmers would then handle all the marketing and selling of wheat. Those who still wanted to buy would do so but from the pool only."

Mr. Sapiro said this was not his own invention but a British idea.
